The Fight in Huntingdon County, Canada—Divided Councils in the Fenian Camp—The Ammunition Unavailable—An Advance and a Retreat—Pleasant Prospect for a Brisk Fight Spoiled—The British Force Engaged.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

MALONE, May 27.—I have just come from the Trout River, having witnessed an engagement on the other side of the line between about 300 Fenians and the Canadian forces. The affair lasted just thirty minutes, and the Fenians retreated to this side of the line, leaving one man wounded and another taken prisoner. Canadians sustained no loss whatever, and are in high glee over the result.

A DIVIDED CAMP.

From some cause as yet unknown, a division of councils prevailed in the Fenian camp last night, but about 350 of them decided to make an advance across the line, only a few of them having as yet entered Canadian territory. The rendezvous was at a spot about a mile this side of the line, and there were arms sufficient for nearly 2,000 men, all breech-loaders; but the small ammunition was nearly all for muzzle-loading weapons, so that the 20,000 rounds lying on the ground were useless.

THE ADVANCE AND INTRENCHMENT.

The members of this volunteer force were given all the fixed ammunition to be had, and the force moved forward. Gen. STARR, of Louisville, assumed command of the expedition, which, on reaching the outskirts of the village, began throwing up intrenchments with rails and spades. The line extended a distance of 300 yards to the left of the main road, and a small body of skirmishers were thrown forward into a hop-dold. Thus lying, the Fenians awaited the approach of the Canadian troops they knew to be advancing, and the matter looked serious.

A RECONNOITERING PARTY.

At 6½ o'clock, four or five Canadian farmers appeared in front of HOLBROOK'S store, half a mile in front of the Fenian position. I subsequently learned that one of these men was Lieut. BUTLER, of the Sixty-ninth Regiment Regulars, who came up in plain clothes to reconnoiter. He was challenged by the pickets, and received their fire.

THE CANADIAN ADVANCE.

Sending back one of his companies, the English Lieutenant maintained his ground until 9 o'clock, when a detachment of the Fiftieth Battalion of Volunteers came up, under the command of Col. MCECHERNE, followed by a company of the Montreal Volunteer Artillery and fifty men of the Sixty-ninth Regulars. Scarcely had this advance column appeared than the volunteers were sent through some broken ground by Lieut. BUTLER toward their right, in hopes of turning the Fenian left. The regulars were pushed up the road, and a few were sent out on the left flank as skirmishers.

PICKET FIRING.

A rattling volley was then given by the Fenian pickets, as they fell back on the main body in pretty good order. The Canadians also opened fire as they pushed through the bushes, though rather wildly, but the Sixth-ninth sent their bullets pattering against the line of low breastworks they caught sight of while advancing up the road.

A GENERAL FIRE.

The Fenians then opened fire from their intrenchments, but as none of the enemy were touched, I believe the English officers are correct when they state the Fenian fire was too high.

PROSPECT OF A BRISK FIGHT.

At this juncture the prospect of a "right smart bit of a skrimmage" was an enlivening one. The firing on either side now became rapid for a few seconds, as both were armed with breech-loaders.

A SUDDEN RETREAT.

There would probably have been a close engagement between the Fenians and the Canadian advance, had not the main body suddenly made its appearance a little below, which so frightened Gen. STARR and his men that they began to break and run for the American side of the line. Gen. STARR was now safe on this side and his troops soon followed, though the Canadians halted when within a hundred yards of the treaty post. Thus ended the battle.

THE MARCH BACK TO MALONE.

The Fenians were by no means demoralized, as I supposed they would be when I saw the retreat commence, and they fell back to the camp in good order. The two pieces of artillery reported to be in possession of the Fenians proved to be myths, or the engagement would probably have been bloodier. By 11 o'clock the Fenians, finding their General gone, became disheartened, and the entire force took their march for Malone, only one or two lagging behind. They were met half way by the reinforcements that arrived here last night, who jeered their retreating comrades and proceeded to the front, where they found only a few citizens rummaging among the ammunition and ordnance chests.

THE OPPOSING FORCE.

As soon as the hostilities had fairly ended your correspondent presented himself at the boundary, and by the courtesy of Capt. LACEY, of the artillery, was allowed to pass into the Canadian territory. I found that the entire force consisted of the Sixty ninth Regulars, comprising 500 muskets, under the command of their Colonel, Brig.-Gen. BAGOTT; the Huntingdon Borderers, or Fiftieth Battalion, numbering 280 men, and the Montreal Artillery, armed as infantry, with 200 muskets, besides a company of sappers and miners. The entire force is under the command of Gen. BAGOTT.

SPOILING FOR FIGHT.

All of the Canadian officers are disappointed at their failure to get a pitched battle out of the Fenians, though their bloodless victory naturally enlivened their spirits.

THE FEELING OF THE CANADIANS.

The feeling on the other side is that the Fenians will be unable to make any decided stand anywhere, and the action of Gen. GRANT is loudly praised.

FENIAN PROPERTY SEIZED.

All this afternoon the Fenians have been pouring into Malone from the front, being disarmed outside of the town by the Local Center, Capt. MANNING, who endeavored to secure the supplies, but failed, as United States Marshal BENEDICT, of Ogdensburg, proceeded to the Fenian camp with twelve regulars and seized the property for the Government. A small detachment of additional troops has since come on to assist in guarding it.

Gen. Gleason Assumes Command—A Lodgment Said to Have Been Made at Richards' Farm—Threats to Recapture Stores Seized by the United States Officers—Demoralization Setting in Rapidly.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

MALONE, May 27.—There are over a thousand Fenians here now and several hundred more are expected to-night or in the morning, if the Buffalo Police fail to stop their coming from the West. Gen. JOHN H. GLEASON, of Richmond, Va., has assumed command of the forces here, and Gen. STARR has disappeared, as the Fenians threatened to lynch him for his cowardice this morning. Gen. GLEASON informs me that his brother PATRICK has intrenched himself on the Canadian line, a few miles east of the battle-ground of Wednesday at RICHARDS' farm. He has forty men with him, and Gen. SPEAR, having assumed command of the St. Albans troops, by virtue of an election last night, has marched to join Capt. GLEASON with 1,100 men, who were put in motion by Gen. GLEASON himself before he left for this place. A council of the officers has been held here just now, and it was decided to send a force out to Trout River to recapture the arms now guarded by the United States regulars. You may rest assured, however, that the attempt will not be made, for the officers are quarreling, and the rank and file are completely demoralized, hungry and tired. The regular artillery now here are doing Police patrol in the town to preserve order and protect property. Twenty-four hours more of this inactivity will be sufficient to break up the entire invasive movement. The name of the Fenian taken prisoner this morning is A. M. HOGAN, of Philadelphia. One of the Fenians is reported wounded and gone home.

Another Account of the Trout River Affair—The Fenians Flanked on Both Sides—The Movement of 1870 a Failure.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

OGDENSBURG, May 27.—One company of the troops which arrived here yesterday left for Malone at 5 o'clock this morning, and another left at noon for Potsdam Junction. Provisions were sent forward to the Fenian army at Trout River last night. There is still much excitement here, but the battle at Trout River this morning has probably closed out the war and the Fenian army. The following dispatch from D. W. C. BROWN, Superintendent of the Ogdensburg and Lake Champlain Railroad, tells the whole story:

MALONE, May 27—3 P. M.—They have had a fight near Trout River. About 600 Fenians were engaged. The most of them are now here, having been quickly defeated. They report only one killed, but say they were flanked on both sides. It seems to have been a pretty general rout, and I think most of them are now in Malone. Two hundred recruits have just arrived from Potsdam Junction, and the streets here are now crowded with gaeen-jackets and citizen clothes mixed. They are quite orderly as yet.

As further evidence of the utter demoralization, I send the following dispatch just received by Collector REMINGTON:

MASSENA, May 27.

COL. S. P. REMINGTON: Ten wagon-loads of all kinds of materials at JAMES MURPHY'S, abandoned by the Fenians last night. Have you any instructions? W. S. P. GARVIN.

These dispatches tell the story that the Fenian movement of 1870 is an utter failure.

Fenians Still Going to the Seat of Hostilities—Impudent Frauds Practised by the Leaders.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

BUFFALO, May 27—Midnight.—A detachment of 100 Fenians left at 6:26 P. M. for the front. Men are constantly arriving in small parties from the West, and going forward as fast as means can be raised. Committees are canvassing the city for subscriptions, and the response is said to be liberal. Last night $150 in gold, it is said, was paid in by parties from Canada. An enthusiastic meeting was held at the Fenian headquarters to-night, which was addressed by Col. MCCLURE, of Chicago. He gave an encouraging account of affairs at the West, and said men were waiting at all points for means to come forward. The Fenians continue to deny the truth of the reported defeat, and talk encouragingly. Parties returned from the front represent things as going on favorably. Another spread eagle bulletin was issued to-night, giving a glowing account of the Fenian success at the seat of war. Numbers of United States troops stationed here attend the Fenian meetings. About fifty more Fenian soldiers arrived on the 10¾ P. M. train from the West, and left on the 11:20 train for the East. Part of them wore rebel gray uniforms.

The Situation in Vermont—An Order to go into Camp—Transportation Home Not Supplied by the Government—A Canadian Raid into Vermont.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., May 27.—The only Fenians that left for their homes last evening were the "Burlington Boys." The rest remained here and were provided with food by order of United States Marshal FOSTER and the village authorities. The presence of United States troops and the closing of liquor saloons conspired to make them orderly and peaceable. The depot furnished shelter for about 100; others were quartered on their sympathizing friends, while still others were compelled to lay out doors. The men have no money, and the officers do not seem to have more than enough to provide for their own wants. Some of the men claim that Gen. O'NEIL has one or two hundred thousand dollars of Fenian funds in his possession; but this statement must be taken with many grains of allowance. They have been loitering about the streets this morning in squads of ten or more, discussing their probable fate and destination.

AN ORDER.

Gen. SPEAR and the Fenian Gens. J. H. GLEASON and H. PRIM, who arrived this morning and booked their names at the American House from "Virginia," have, with other lesser lights in the Fenian Brotherhood, been in close consultation over the situation, and the consultation culminated in the issuing of an order by Gen. SPEAR ordering the men to go into encampment two or three miles from here. One or two hundred have obeyed the order, or at least have left the village, so near as can be ascertained. Gen. SPEAR wants the men to return to the Franklin line, as their presence there would necessarily draw a portion of the Canadian troops from Huntington back to that point; and many of the men express an earnest desire to go to Malone, and would have done so last evening or this morning if they had had money enough to pay for their transportation; but they have not, and are not likely to have at present.

WHO SHALL SEND THE FENIANS HOME?

The United States Marshal received a telegram last night from Washington, that the Government will not pay for their transportation home, but that the expense must be borne by the State Government. This was unexpected, as at the time of the other Fenian raid, four years ago, the Government willingly offered to pay the transportation bills of the returning Fenians.

THE BURIAL OF ROWE.

The Fenians as well as others still continue to express great indignation at the manner of the burial of their comrade, ROWE, who was certainly put under the ground, if reports are true, in a most inhuman way by the Canadian troops.

CONDITION OF GEN. DONNELLY.

Further intelligence from Gen. DONNELLY, who is still at Franklin, says that he is failing very fast, and is not likely to live very long. The bullet still remains in his thigh, and cannot be removed.

A COMPLICATION.

After the engagement at RICHARDS' farm and the Fenians had pretty much all left Franklin, some of the Canadian troops came this side of the line and seized a piece of artillery and a large quantity of arms and ammunition that had been abandoned. Gen. FOSTER has or will make a formal demand for its return. All reports say that he has made a demand, and the reply was that he only could have it at the point of the bayonet.

A Council of the Defeated—A Strong Disposition to Go Home—Fenian Officers Arrested—The Prisoner in the Hands of the Canadians—Gens. Meade and McDowell.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., May 27—Evening.—It turns out that the Fenians who left here this forenoon only proceeded north about two and a half miles, where it was expected a council was to be held, but the council was merely a discussion of the situation by the men themselves. Gen. SPEAR was near the main body and read to the various little squads that gathered about his carriage, the favorable telegrams that he had received from the fight near Malone. His object was to convince the Fenians that they ought to go to the aid of their comrades at that point, but they were not easily convinced. They condemned the management of Gen. O'NEIL in the most emphatic terms, and said they had but little faith in the other leaders. They remained at the point above named until about 3 o'clock, when they commenced marching back to town in military order, reaching here about 4 o'clock. On their arrival the news of the Fenian repulse near Trout River quickly spread among them, and their only talk was of obtaining transportation home at the earliest moment. Gen. GLEASON, who has certainly been in town today, notwithstanding his reported presence at Malone, left in the noon train for the latter point. He was in constant conversation with Fenian officers and men, but the result shows that he had little or no influence in controlling their movements.

ARREST OF FENIAN OFFICERS.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon the Fenian officers Col. JOHN H. BROWN, of Lawrence, Mass., and Capt. MONAHAN, of Burlington, were arrested upon warrants made out by United States District-Attorney B. F. FIFIELD. No resistance was offered, and shortly after they were arraigned before United States Commissioner JASPER RAND, and in default of $5,000 bail each, were ordered to be committed. Others are likely to be arrested if they remain about here.

THE FATE OF A PRISONER IN CANADA.

A report has been received that THOS. MURPHY, from St. Albans, who was captured by the Canadians, near Cook's Corner, is to be hanged to-morrow. MURPHY has a family of children residing two or three miles from this village.

ARRIVAL OF GENS. MEADE AND M'DOWELL.

A large and enthusiastic crowd gathered at the depot this evening to witness the arrival of Gens. Meade, McDowell, Hunt, Ingalls and Van Vliet. These distinguished officers were immediately driven to the Weldon House, where they have quarters. Quite a number of telegrams from Washington, Malone and other points were handed Gen. MEADE as he stepped off the cars.

FENIAN WANDERERS.

A large number of Fenians left for their homes today. Still many remain, who are this evening marching about the streets in excellent spirits. Thus far they have perpetrated no mischief, owing, undoubtedly, to the presence of Uncle Sam's troops. The citizens treat them kindly, and furnish them with considerable provisions.

Movements of United States Troops to the Frontier.

OSWEGO, N. Y., May 27.—The Company of First United States Artillery stationed at Fort Ontario, consisting of forty-five men, left here this morning on the Oswego and Watertown road for Malone.

CONCORD, N. H., May 27.—Companies A and B, Fifth United States Heavy Artillery, passed through Concord this morning from Fort Adams for Malone. They were accompanied by Major-Gen. F. J. HUNT.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., May 27.—Gen. J. M. BRANNAN, of the United States Army, arrived here today and assumed command of the regular forces. Major HASKINS has been dispatched to Malone with one company of men to assist United States Deputy Marshal BENEDICT in enforcing the Neutrality laws. Capt. WHEELER, with one company, has been stationed at Potsdam Junction. Three companies are at this place encamped near the revenue cutter Chase. These men are all of the First Artillery. No orders have been received, as reported, to put the Chase in commission.

Movement of Canadian Troops.

OGDENSBURG, May 27.—Seven hundred Canadian volunteers passed down the St. Lawrence today on a steamer, which also had on board 200 tons of ammunition, bound for the seat of the hostilities. The greater part of the troops in Prescott are ordered to the East, and the Canadian Government is pushing every available battalion to the front.

The Canadian Press on the Raid—The Proclamation Declared a Farce.

TORONTO, May 27.—The Canadian papers, in treating of the present Fenian raid, express the following views:

"In its effects upon Canada, Fenianism is a miserable pest, a cause of annoyance and expense, a nuisance which the country is forced to suffer from continually without reason, entailing loss of life in an ignoble cause, and disturbance of business relations. To these evils the Canadian people would submit without complaint if they thought the Imperial Government was sufficiently considerate of their position or assumed its due share of the responsibility. They hold that the Imperial Government is remiss in not making proper representations at Washington, and demanding of the United States Government that it shall take some steps to prevent these recurring invasions of their soil, the murder of brave men and waste of money. Canada, being a colony, is in no position to remonstrate with the United States Government."

Referring to the United States, they complain that Fenianism has received the countenance and support of her leading men and parties; that O'NEIL and his chief confederates have been allowed to go about openly begging for contributions, and raising men, with the avowed purpose of invading Canada. Public demonstrations for these objects have been permitted. President GRANT'S proclamation, without a sufficient force to support it, is a farce. Unfriendliness to Great Britain has steadily marked the policy of the United States Government in its treatment of Fenianism.

Interest in the Movement Among the English—Comments of the Press—The Course of President Grant Approved.

LONDON, May 27.—The Fenian movements on the New-York and Vermont border are still anxiously watched by the English Government and people. The course of the President and the American officials in connection with the raid, forms a topic uppermost in newspaper comment and general conversation. The Morning Standard (Conservative) thinks that the United States Government has no motive to embroil itself with Great Britain on a question so contemptible as the Fenian business. The News (Liberal) refers to the vigilant Canadian Government, the firm attitude taken by the United States, and the absolute imbecility of the Fenians, to prove that further aggressions upon Canada are, if not impossible, at least improbable. The Times again expresses its admiration for the loyalty and vigor displayed by President GRANT. It is unable, however, to express its indignation at the object for which the American and Canadian troops have been put in motion. It applies to the affair such words as "abominable," "pillage," "slaughter," "outrageous," "murderers," &c.

The Rumored Demand for Protection for the Frontier by Great Britain.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 27.—The rumor from Ottawa that Minister THORNTON has been directed by the Secretary for Foreign Affairs to demand protection of the Canadian frontier by President GRANT, is untrue. On the contrary, the British Minister, in behalf of his Government, is satisfied with what President GRANT is doing to suppress the Fenian invasion, and has so expressed himself to our Government.

FENIAN HOME NEWS.

The Excitement in this City—Departure of More Reinforcements—Recruiting and Collecting Money.

Recruiting for the Fenian ranks was somewhat brisk yesterday, and considerable excitement was manifested at the head-quarters in Hibernia Hall and in West Fourth-street all day. As fast as enrolled, the men were directed to report at the Hudson River Railroad Depot for transportation and immediate service at the front. Some of the prominent Fenian leaders were in the City, they having gone forward to look at if not fill the breech. A dispatch was received yesterday afternoon from a member of Gen. GLEASON'S staff, dated Malone, N. Y., May 27. It was as follows: "Battle expected here today. Send on all your men." Another was received from RUDOLPH FITZPATRICK, who telegraphed from the same point that 1,000 men had crossed the border under Capts. MANNING and LINDSEY. A demand was made in this dispatch for recruits. The Executive Committee appeared to need funds with which to defray the expenses of transportation, and these did not come in so rapidly as they did at first. The want of money appeared to be sorely felt, and several dispatches were received from the front praying that funds might be sent on immediately.

The impression seemed to prevail with some that the fighting material which was going forward would not be available by the time it reached the destination. Though many of the men are veterans and were engaged in the army during the rebellion, they are now in no condition to stand the hardships of a campaign. Gen. MCDOWELL has gone forward to take command of the United States troops on the frontier, and small detachments of regulars went on during the day. The contradictory reports about the movements of the Fenian invaders on Canadian soil, which were circulated about the City yesterday, produced little or no effect upon the Irishmen who are doing their part at home. The impression prevailed, and was sedulously fostered by the leaders and organizers, that the unfavorable reports were given out through venal or prejudiced motives, and they were accordingly disregarded. The enrollment of men went on steadily in various parts of the City, and a firm determination to do or die has taken the place of the wild, fervid enthusiasm which prevailed a few days since. Several wealthy Irishmen, whose hearts are with the cause, but who are prevented by age or business engagements from taking an active part in the movement, contributed liberally to enable the strong-armed young men to hasten to the front.

At Hibernia Hall a numerous and enthusiastic assemblage met to discuss the state of affairs and receive authentic information from the seat of war. The meeting was convened under the auspices of Irish Exile Circle, of which MICHAEL FEELY is Center. When the tumultuous crowd had subsided into something like order, Mr. FEELY made a stirring speech, exhorting all his hearers who cherished any love for their native land to come forward now and contribute in some way to the success of the movement. He then proceeded to read a dispatch from Mr. DAVIS, who had been sent on to the frontier to ascertain exactly how the vanguard of the Army of Liberation is situated. Mr. DAVIS had reached a point on the border very near the position occupied by the Fenians, and gave a most favorable report. He said that men were pouring in every hour; that arms and accouterments were plenty, and all they wanted was money to maintain the troops for some time. This dispatch was listened to with the most profound attention, and when it was read the hall echoed with loud cheers. A subscription was then started, and the hard-working, hard-handed men who composed the greater part of the meeting, gave from their scant earnings with a generosity which eloquently proclaimed the sincerity of their feelings. In less than an hour, $800 were subscribed, and fifty men were singled out from among the eager volunteers to start last night, under command of Capt. KELLY.

JOHN QUINN, Secretary of the Irish Exile Circle; Mr. WALSH, President of the Laborer's Union No. 1; Col. GAYNOR and others then addressed the meeting, condemning "the false accounts in the newspapers," as he styled them, and urging upon all the necessity of prompt and energetic action in the present emergency. More than 100 men offered their services, but they were reluctantly declined for the present owing to the want of money to transport them to the frontier.

An enthusiastic meeting of the Gen. Sheridan Circle was held last evening at Constitution Hall, corner of Third-avenue and Twenty-second-street. The business done consisted of the collection of money to help to sustain the men in the field, and the appointment of a local committee to act in concert with others throughout this City to procure and forward supplies to the men who are fighting. The leading members of the Circle spoke forcibly of the duty which every Irishman in the country at large, had to perform in the present crisis of their race, and talked confidently of the ultimate success of the present invasion. The news of GLEASON'S repulse and subsequent abandonment of the Fenian forces under him apparently affected them no more than did the capture of Gen. O'NEIL. They say that the loss of this or that position does not depend on any one or two men; and therein lies the source of its strength, and the secret of operations and attacks still being made along the line. At the close of the meeting, over twenty-five volunteers enrolled their names, and money enough was immediately collected to defray the expense of their equipment and transportation to the front. They were marched to the Hudson River Railroad Depot direct from Constitution Hall, and left in company with others by the 11 o'clock train.

At head-quarters, in Fourth-street, several hundred men enrolled their names for the expedition, but only those who had money enough to pay their way were accepted, and they immediately started for the Hudson River Railroad Depot. Including the detachments from all parts of the City, at least 600 men left for Malone, St. Albans and other points near the frontier.

The rumored death of Gen. GLEASON has given universal satisfaction, as much confidence was not placed in his ability as a commander, though his bravery is not questioned.

In Brooklyn, yesterday, crowds of anxious inquirers were to be seen round the various rendezvous, many of whom anticipated great events. A rumor was current that the active members of the Savage wing had in council yesterday morning concluded to go over to the O'Neil side. A delegation from the council visited head-quarters in New-York, where, it is stated, they were received "with open arms." Brisk business in the recruiting department was carried on during the day, a majority of those offering themselves for service being well-conducted, well-dressed young men, averaging about twenty-five years of age. Much precaution was taken in the selection of such as were sworn in, as a rumor prevailed that a large crowd of English spies were endeavoring to join the movement. At one Circle, a man wearing a suit of clothes that had scarcely lost the smell of salt met with a reception not agreed upon, being kicked down two flights of stairs. This pleased the "patriots" highly, their only desire being to catch a few more of the snakes, "and they'd let them see what Irish boys could do in America."

The Fenian fund was augmented considerably yesterday. From an early hour, persons sympathizing with the movement entered the numerous places where books had been opened, to give their mite to the fund. These mites, in a few instances, varied between $200 and $1,000, a sum of the latter amount having been donated by an Ex-Alderman. The Irish Sisters are fully employed in preparing articles of clothing and other necessaries for those at the front.

Meetings were held at all the Circles last evening, a draft of 250 men having been ordered. The full number was easily obtained, who, in company with a similar number of volunteers, left at a late hour last night for Malone. About 200 friends accompanied them to the ferries.

A detachment of 100 men left Williamsburg last night for Malone.

At the meeting of Circle Hope of Erin, held at No. 369 Fulton-street last evening, a private dispatch to the Centre was read, stating that the Irish army were in possession of Huntingdon, and asking that more troops be at once forwarded to reinforce them. Every person in the room volunteered to go, and were detailed to search for others to join them.

The excitement consequent on the arrest of Gen. O'NEIL has culminated in the sending to the front of two companies from Paterson—one of cavalry under the command of Capt. HART, and one of infantry under the command of Capt. O'NEIL. These companies number over 150 men, among whom will be found at least 100 veterans. Among those who leave Paterson are some of our best mechanics and business men, and those who do not wish to go contribute largely to those who will. As an instance, it may be remarked that $10,000 have been promised, and one installment of $1,000 was collected within a single hour. These companies left with the congratulations of their friends by the 8:59 train last night.

A recruiting office for the Fenian army has been opened in Odd Fellows Hall, Hoboken, by Capt. MAHON, and a large number of recruits have been gathered from Hudson City and other parts of the county. Over 200 Fenians have already left for the border. Fifty more will be sent on Monday.

GENERAL TELEGRAMS.

EUROPE.

Safe Arrival out of the Pereire—British Parliament—A Dull Day—Entertainment by Mr. Motley—War Ships Building.

LONDON, May 27.—Inquiries having been received here from New-York, as to the safety of the steam-ship Pereire, which sailed from New-York on the 14th inst., it is proper to state that while the steamer arrived at Brest safely early Monday evening last, owing to the shameful neglect of somebody the news of her arrival has just been given to the public. In the House of Lords today Earl GRANVILLE said if the Irish Land bill reached the House early next week, he should move an adjournment of the debate to June 13, when the bill should have its second reading. The Earl of KIMBERLY moved the second reading of the bill repealing the Ecclesiastical Titles act. The Lord Chancellor explained that the measure was rendered necessary by the extinction of the Irish Church Establishment. The bill was read for the second time, and the House adjourned. In the House of Commons, Mr. MONSELL denied that there was any connection between the Fenian invasion and the Red River rising. The Government had received no information of fresh movements either in Winnipeg or on the Canadian frontier, nor was there reason to anticipate any. The House went into a long discussion on a motion in regard to false weights and measures and the adulteration of food, but took no action on the subject. A motion ordering the payment of the Kirwee prize money was rejected by a vote of 108 to 67. Mr. FORSTER explained a new bill providing for education in districts where no facilities now exist. A protracted discussion followed until the adjournment, when only twenty-six members were present....Mrs. MOTLEY, the wife of the American Minister, gave a grand dinner last evening, which was largely attended.

GLASGOW, May 27.—There are on the stocks, at one ship-building establishment in this city, eight iron ocean steam-ships, and two others under contract will be commenced there immediately.

Enthusiastic Reunion by French Radicals—Proceedings in the Corps Legislatif—Violent Conduct of French Students.

PARIS, May 27.—Last evening there was a private reunion of Radicals in the Belleville quarter. M. GAMBETTA, a member of the Corps Legislatif, who was present, made a speech, in which he said that there must be no more violence. Our triumph, he said, must be through universal suffrage. These sentiments were applauded to the echo....In the Corps Legislatif the interpellation on the reasons for the dissolution of the Plebiscitary Committee was submitted. M. OLLIVIER made explanations, which were so satisfactory that the House voted the order of the day, the members of the "Left" only dissenting. There were no indications of the expected coalition of the Right and Left wings of the Chamber, and the new Ministry enters on its labors with an expression of confidence voted by an overwhelming majority. A violent disturbance was created today at the lecture of M. EDOUARD LABOULAYE before the Law-school. The students interrupted the Professor with a storm of hisses, prevented him from going on and forced him to leave the hall. Not content with these insults, the students followed M. LABOULAYE into the street, where the demonstration was continued. The Professor finally escaped, but with much difficulty. A number of the prominent actors in the affair have been arrested.

Piracy in Chinese Waters—Proposal of Bismarck to the Great Powers—The Newest Portuguese Ministry Bulletin—The Declination of Espartero Definitive.

BERLIN, May 27.—Count VON BISMARCK has made proposals to the Great Powers that they take joint action for the suppression of piracy in the Chinese waters. The Governments of Great Britain and the United States signified their acceptance of the proposition.

LISBON, May 27.—Since the last report, changes have been made in the new Ministry, which is now definitely formed as follows:

SALDANHA, President of the Council and Minister of War and Foreign Affairs.

SAMPIO, Minister of the Interior.

PEREIRA, Minister of Finance.

ANDRADE, Minister of the Marine.

The new Ministers yesterday took the oath of allegiance to the King.

The Red River Expedition—2,500 Troops at Rainy Lake—British Men-of-War Ordered to the Fishing Ground.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 27.—The Tribune of the 26th inst. publishes a statement from a gentleman, whom it vouches for as entirely trustworthy, to the effect that early in May he left Vermillion County, on Lake Superior. At Fort Francis, a fur-trading post on the British side of Rainy Lake, he found 2,500 British soldiers, fully equipped and provisioned. They had a large fleet of river canoes, with which they intended to make their way to the Red River country. He thinks that ere this they have reached the Lake of the Woods. It is supposed that these troops were started from Canada as soon as navigation permitted them.

HALIFAX, May 27.—Two more British war vessels, the Royalist and Philomel, now at this port, have been ordered to the fishing grounds.

Municipal Elections in Virginia—The Republican Ticket Elected in Richmond.

RICHMOND, Va., May 27.—The rejoicings of the Conservatives last night were premature. The counting of the ballots show that the Republicans have elected GEORGE CHAHOON Mayor, and their city ticket. The Republican majority on the city ticket is about 200. The Conservatives carry the City Council. The Republicans also carry Petersburg, and the Conservatives carry Lynchburg, Danville and Norfolk.

NORFOLK, Va., May 27.—The result of the municipal election yesterday cannot be known until the official returns are given. The vote is very close. The last report gives the Conservative ticket thirty majority. Business houses were closed yesterday, and both sides polled a full vote. The Radical ticket in Portsmouth, headed by PHILIP THOMAS for Mayor, was elected by a considerable majority.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., May 27.—The Conservative ticket is elected by about 150 majority. The Radicals carry one ward, and elect a negro Councilman and one negro Magistrate. The vote is not yet counted.

Further Details of the Virginia Municipal Elections.

RICHMOND, Va., May 27.—The Republican majority on their city ticket will be about 300. Despite a driving rain, which has been falling all day, the Republicans held a meeting in front of the Custom-house this afternoon. Many speeches were made and much enthusiasm prevailed. This morning, as the ballot in Jefferson Ward was being taken to the City Hall, the bearer was assailed in the street, the box broken open and the ballots scattered. They had been counted, so it will make no difference in the vote. In Petersburg, the Republicans elected their Mayor by 500 majority, but the Conservatives have a large majority in the Council. The Republicans carry Farmville, and the Conservatives carry Charlottesville, Danville and Staunton.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., May 27.—The vote of yesterday has just been counted. The Conservatives elect their entire general ticket by an average majority of 130. In the Fourth Ward the Radicals elect all those named on the ticket, including some Conservatives, and in the Third, all those named on the ticket for the City Council, among whom, also, are some Conservatives. A full vote was polled, and but for a side issue the Third Ward Conservative ticket would have been elected.

THE PRESBYTERIANS.

Yesterday's Proceedings in the General Assembly at Philadelphia—Union Sentiment.

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—The session of the Presbyterian General Assembly was resumed at the usual hour today. The reception of the two delegates, Rev. JAMES DEMOREST and Rev. DAVID COLE, from the Reformed Church delegates, pointed strongly toward union between the Presbyterian and Reformed Churches, at some future day, though it is deemed impossible at present. Consideration of the reconstruction report was resumed. The item changing the sealing of chapter 7, section 2, of the Book of Discipline, was adopted. The item following was amended to read: "It is recommended that the Assembly instruct and order all Presbyteries, when reconstructed, at their first appointed meeting, to vote 'yea' or 'nay' on these several overtures, and report it to the next Assembly." The remaining items of the report and preamble were adopted, and the report was referred to the Committee for engrossment, previous to final action. Reports of the Committee on the Heidelburg Catechism and of the Joint Committees on Missions and on Church Erection, were read and approved, and placed on the docket for future action.

In the afternoon session letters were read from the following corresponding delegates: Rev. J. B. DALES, D. D., Rev. CHARLES SMITH, Rev. J. J. CARUTHERS and Rev. WILLIAM ROBERTS. ALEXANDER, of the Presbyterian and Congregational Church of Wisconsin, Rev. Dr. ADAMS, of New-York, asking for information concerning the session at Louisville. Rev. Mr. BACKUS, of Baltimore, spoke in commendable terms of the treatment and success of said session, and said he never was so cordially received by any assembly. The report of the Committee on Church Elections was presented by Rev. HOWARD CROSBY and placed on the docket. The report of the Committee on Foreign Missions was placed on the docket. Drs. MUSGRAVE, HATFIELD and WISNER were appointed to prepare an Enabling act. The Committee to confer with the United Presbyterian Church consists of Rev. Messrs. HERRICK, JOHNSON, R. D. HARPER, W. P. PAKEWELL and RICHARD EDWARD, Esq. Adjourned until Monday morning.

Death of Nathaniel Willis.

BOSTON, May 27.—NATHANIEL WILLIS, aged ninety years, died in this city yesterday. He was the son of NATHANIEL WILLIS, a publisher well known in the days of the Revolution, who was an apprentice with BENJAMIN FRANKLIN in the printing-office which was situated upon the spot where the Daily Advertiser building now stands, and was also a member of the Boston "tea party." His son, the subject of this sketch, was also a publisher and journalist. He founded the Eastern Argus of Portland, and was the original proprietor and for many years editor of the Boston Recorder, which was established in 1816, and was the first religious newspaper in the world. He also started the Youth's Companion, the first youth's paper. Two sons, NATHANIEL PARKER WILLIS, the poet, and RICHARD STORRS WILLIS, followed the profession of their father and grandfather, and one of his daughters, Mrs. PARTON, is well known as an author and a lively newspaper writer.

CURRENT NOTES.

The Vermont Republicans will hold their State Convention in Burlington on Wednesday, June 22.

Some of the Democratic papers in Tennessee are urging that a State Convention be held in Nashville to nominate candidates for Judges of the Supreme Court.

The sailing down of the dump pile of Blossom Rock in San Francisco Harbor, was ended on the 16th inst., and the removal of this danger-ous obstacle to navigation is now complete.

A Cincinnati man threw his wife out of the window, because supper was not ready when he came home, drunk. Fortunately her injuries are not dangerous.

Chesterfield, Md., which was carried by the Republicans with its old of the negro votes, on Monday, is the home of United States Senator VICKERS.

The article from the Mission, of May 30, upon the "condition of the Republican Party," published by you, is an old shrieked sham, and unworthy the attention of any intelligent person. It scarcely deserves a reply, but as it is advanced here and there, it may be well to say that the Republican Party has not a party in the field of the Missouri Compromise, and that the Democratic Party has in its platform the principles of the Missouri Compromise, and that is the reason why the Democratic Party has gained a majority in the Legislature, and will elect a United States Senator to succeed Hon. JOHN B. HENDERSON, whose term expires on the 4th of March next. The Democratic Party has also gained a majority in the House of Representatives, and will elect a majority of the State officers. The Democratic Party is the party of the people, and is the party that will restore the Government to the principles upon which it was founded by the fathers of the Republic. The Democratic Party is the party that will restore peace and prosperity to the country. The Democratic Party is the party that will bring back the days of '76, when the people were prosperous and happy, and when there was no such thing as a tramp in the land ordinary mishap of failing to catch a heaving line resulted in placing the vessel in great peril. It was the duty of the master of the tug to determine the distance necessary for his maneuvers, and to stop, drop the stern hawser, turn his boat, and make fast to the bow line. I see nothing to justify the tug in holding on as she did until the ship was in a position of danger, for a ship is certainly in danger when she is drifting toward piers, and so near as to require not only great diligence, but good fortune to prevent her from striking. I hold the tug, therefore, to be responsible for lack of proper care in taking the ship so far out into the stream before she dropped the hawser. In arriving at this conclusion, I have not overlooked the defense which has been sought to be rested upon evidence tending to show that the ship was being transported under the direction of her own master, and that, in point of fact, the master of the tug acted under the direction of the master of the ship in determining the distance out to which the ship was taken.

A careful consideration of the testimony given by the various witnesses has convinced me that there was nothing in the action of the master of the ship on this occasion which can absolve the master of the tug from the responsibility of a negligent performance of the maneuver which he undertook. It is true that the master of the ship was on board the ship and gave some orders in regard to the handing of the ship as she was coming out of the dock, and I was satisfied of the correctness of the master's statement that he told the tug to drop the hawser as soon as the ship was clear of the New-York piers; but nothing occurred which would warrant the Captain of the tug in supposing that the master of the ship had undertaken to say how far out the tug should go before turning to take the bow line, or in any way made himself responsible for the nearness of his ship to the Brooklyn piers at the time the tug had stopped towing. The maneuver of shifting the position of the tug from that of towing by the stern hawser to that of towing ahead was a maneuver which the master of the tug knew he would be obliged to perform when he took hold of the stern line. If not responsible for the mode of taking the ship out upon such a line, which was clearly improper, he is certainly responsible for any want of due care and skill displayed in making the necessary change of position, and such want of care is shown in his taking the ship so far out into the stream before he stopped towing. The decree must be accordingly be for the libelant, with an order of reference to ascertain damages.

HABEAS CORPUS—ALLEGED ILLEGAL IMPRISONMENT.

A lad aged about fourteen years, named James Leonard, who was recently convicted of petit larceny in the Court of Special Sessions and sentenced to service on the School-boat at Hart's Island, was brought before Judge CARDOZO, of the Supreme Court, yesterday, on a writ of habeas corpus, and his discharge demanded on the ground that the commitment does not state the nature of the crime alleged to have been committed or the place where. It was also claimed that the lad should have been sentenced to the House of Refuge if anywhere, there being no law, counsel said, to authorize the imprisonment of the relator on the school-boat.

The Court adjourned the case until Wednesday of next week for a further hearing.

SUPREME COURT—SPECIAL TERM—MAY 27.

Before Judge Ingraham.

THE RIGHT OF A BLOCKADE-RUNNING CORPORATION TO RECOVER IN OUR COURTS—CAN A TRUSTEE RESIST PERFORMANCE OF HIS TRUST ON THE GROUND OF ITS ILLEGALITY?

The case of the Consolidated Steam-ship Company came up before the Equity Term of the Supreme Court on the plaintiff's demurrer to a defense in the answer. The suit is brought to obtain an accounting from a trustee; and the defendant declines to account on the ground that the plaintiffs were engaged in an illegal business, namely, running the blockade. This defense the plaintiffs say is not good in law. They say that if this action had been brought on a contract arising on a blockade-running consideration, they could not, of course, recover; but that in an action to obtain the fruits and profits of the venture their trustee cannot avail himself of the means by which they obtained the property which he received to their use. They claim a decree in their capacity as stockholders, and if that is not allowed, then they ask relief as individuals. It was argued that the corporation plaintiff stands in this case in the same condition that an English corporation would for a similar purpose, would occupy; that a foreign corporation could recover against a trustee the fruits of a venture whatever might be the character of that venture, and that under the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States rendered since the war, this corporation was clearly entitled to relief. Under another part of their pleading they ask judgment against Rhinelander, claiming against an agent, and contend, under the decisions of this State, that whatever might have been the connection between the parties, if one has received property to the use of another, the Courts will compel the party receiving assets for such use to pay them over, regardless of the source from which they were obtained.

Mr. Edward L. Andrews spoke at some length for the plaintiffs; Mr. Brown, Hall & Vanderpool appear for the defendants. The arguments will be resumed on Monday.

FRIDAY, May 27—P. M.

We have rather a singular market to report for Gold and Foreign Exchange, through the various transactions, up and down, of the day. The sales of Gold opened firm at 114¼@114⅜, and soon advanced to 115@115⅛ ₱ cent. No attention was apparently paid by the Gold Room to the course of Exchange for Saturday's mail, it being assumed that the rise of yesterday to 109½ ₱ cent. on London was established. But before 1 o'clock it was discovered that Bills were down ¼@½ ₱ cent., and that a large amount of Gold had been sold by the Bankers in anticipation of making their Exchange against United States 5-20s of 1862 and various other American Securities. The rate on London fell to 109½ ₱ cent., sixty days, and 110½@110⅝ sight and short sight. It was also found that a large amount of Exchange had been drawn and thrown upon the market as against some $800,000 or $900,000 Gold bars, drawn from the Treasury and put up for shipment for Saturday's steamers. These signs of weakness in the Exchange market late in the day caused the reaction in Gold, and also led to a weaker feeling in most of the Public Funds than was shown at the outset of the day's business in the forenoon. The 5-20s of 1862 were exceptionally strong, and the long 6 ₱ cents of 1881 were also firm. Of the 1862s, a single house is said to have taken $1,200,000 in the last few days for transmission to Europe, about clearing the market of this class of 5-20s. Some purchases of 1867s were also made yesterday for the same destination.

On inquiry at the Bullion desk of the Treasury Office this afternoon, we ascertain that only about $2,300,000 refined Gold bars remain to be withdrawn under the order of the Secretary of the Treasury of Feb. 8, and extended to June 7.

The shipments of Specie to-morrow will include some further sums of American Silver Coin, half dollars and twenty-five cent pieces, recently sent here from Canada.

The numerous friends of the outward-bound passengers by the favorite steamer Pereire, of the French line, sailing hence on Saturday week, May 14, were much relieved this morning on hearing that she arrived with her accustomed promptness at Brest on Monday evening last. The suspense of three days incident to the delay of Cable dispatches announcing this arrival might have been saved by an ordinary degree of attention on the part of the agents of the line at Brest.

Our experience today, while making the proper inquiries as to the cause of the fluctuations in Gold and Exchange, referred to above, would tend to the belief that the amount of Exchange making against American securities, other than U. S. 5-20s, is again on the increase, and that new negotiations are progressing, if not already substantially concluded, in certain recent Railway undertakings, involving from five to ten millions of dollars.

The Railway market was less buoyant than yesterday in prices, but fairly active on several of the Western Roads like Lake Shore, Ohio and Mississippi and Rock Island. The North-westa and St. Pauls were not so animated, though there was no strong disposition shown to sell them down. The Southern State Bonds were again active on new Tennessees; ½ ₱ cent. higher on Virginias, and steady on South Carolinas, North Carolinas new and Missouris. The report of the Pacific Mail Company, published this morning, was favorably received, and very large transactions in the Stock occurred early in the day at 41⅞@41¾@40⅝ ₱ cent. At the Second Board there was quite a stir in New-York Central Stock and Scrip, both at a concession from yesterday's figures, and there was also a break in Lake Shore down to 97½ ₱ cent., and in Rock Island to 118⅛ ₱ cent.

The conclusive action of the House of Representatives yesterday on the Joint resolution to promote the North Pacific Railway will probably silence most of the opposition to this enterprise outside of Congress, and it is greatly to be desired for all parties that such should be the effect. No particular complaint has been made of this opposition to the passage of a Resolution which simply filled up the original Land Grant of 1864 to the Company under the original charter, and authorized a mortgage upon the Lands in advance of the building of the Road, so far as it was prompted by a spirit of rivalry from the Union and Central Pacific interests. We think these parties made a mistake in assuming, either directly or insidiously, an antagonistic attitude, but they have now the opportunity to join cordially in the successful prosecution scarcely less important to their own, and the success of which will reflect additional luster upon the transcontinental roads already completed, but all of whose securities have not yet been placed in the markets at home or abroad. As to the personal and much-to-be-regretted personal through a leading and influential journal of his own city to Mr. JAY COOKE, one of the prominent promoters of the enterprise, we are quite sure that our respected contemporary has too much magnanimity to pursue the subject now that the work has been fairly indorsed by Congress, and approved, as it will be, by the President of the United States.

It may be well enough to warn the public who hold or design to buy into the Stocks of the City Railways, like the Sixth-avenue, Third-avenue, &c., of the effect upon this interest of the possible—or as it may be more strongly expressed—strong probability of the passage through Congress of the revised Internal Revenue Bill abolishing the tax upon gross receipts. In virtue of the U. S. Revenue law as it now stands our Street Railways are charging six cents fare, as against five cents authorized by their original State grants. Should the tax upon gross receipts be repealed this privilege will fall to the ground. The fare will then be restricted to five cents, which may not prove a paying rate on the very best managed of these Companies. The "knowing ones" in regard to this matter we understand have been privately selling and transferring their Shares in certain of the Street Railways without suffering the quotation to go on the record of the Stock Exchange. We mean no blame to them for so doing, but hope to do a service to outside parties by thus reporting what is actually going on both here and at Washington.

The week's imports of foreign Dry Goods have been to the specie value of $1,114,793; amount marketed, $1,341,767.

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

HOWES & MACY, BANKERS,

30 Wall Street, N. Y.

FOUR PER CENT. INTEREST ALLOWED ON DEPOSITS.

The business of this house is the same as an Incorporated Bank.

Persons keeping accounts may deposit and draw as they please, the same as with the City Banks, and will be allowed interest on their daily balances at 4 per cent.

Orders for the purchase or sale of the various issues of Government and other Stocks, Bonds, and Gold, promptly executed for the usual commission.

☞ THE SOUTHERN CENTRAL RAILROAD is now completed the entire distance from Owego to Ithaca, 70 miles, and the immense agricultural and Manufacturing district is thus efficiently provided for. The local business of the Southern Central will be very large both in freight and passenger traffic. The rich agricultural country, belonging thereto will afford a constantly increasing business. The great manufacturing establishments at Auburn, whose water-power is the best in the State, and the seats of learning on the line, will always secure to this road a good income.

VERMILYE & CO., the Financial Agents of the Road, offer the remaining unsold portion of the Bonds with the greatest confidence, believing them to be as good a security as any that has ever been placed on this market.

The Bonds bear Seven per cent., have thirty years to run, and they are convertible into stock at the option of the holder.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE FENIAN RAID.

The great battle which was to have been fought yesterday by the Fenians who set out from Malone, N. Y., to invade Canada, has turned out to be a repetition of the RICHARDS' farm affair. The Fenians advanced about 5 o'clock in the morning, and threw up a breastwork of fence rails. The Canadians advanced upon this about 8 o'clock, and firing began soon after between the advance of the Canadians and the Fenians behind the breastworks. On the approach of the main body of the Canadian force the "invaders" immediately sought the shelter of the neutral soil of the State of New-York, and the "battle" was over. The casualties are all on the Fenian side, and one or two prisoners were left in the hands of the Canadians. The invasion may be said to be ended. The Fenians at St. Albans were yesterday ordered to go into camp at Franklin, by Gen. SPEAR, after consultation with other persons claiming authority over the disorganized horde. One or two hundred of them obeyed the order, or at least disappeared from the village. The condition of Gen. DONNELLY, who is still at Franklin, is critical, and yesterday he was failing rapidly. A statement is made that after the fight at RICHARDS' farm and all the Fenians had disappeared, the Canadian troops crossed the line and seized a cannon and a quantity of arms and ammunition that had been abandoned; also that Gen. FOSTER, the United States Marshal, had made a formal demand for the return of the property, but had been answered that he could only obtain it at the point of the bayonet. A Washington dispatch denies the story that the British Ambassador had been instructed to demand protection for the frontier from the United States Government, and says that, on the contrary, the British Minister, in behalf of his Government, expresses satisfaction with the course of the President.

EUROPE.

The English journals continue to comment on the Fenian raid and the action of the President of the United States, general satisfaction being expressed with the latter....The Uxbridge Coroner's jury have found a verdict against the persons now in custody for the horrible crime which was perpetrated there a few days ago....In the Spanish Cortes, on Thursday, Gen. PRIM assured the adherents of ESPARTERO that he considered the refusal of the latter to be a candidate for the crown as definitive, and they must endeavor to consolidate the Regency. The body is averse to investing SERRANO with Royal powers.....The French Ministers are said to feel uneasy in contemplation of the coming session of the Corps Legislatif. A private meeting of Radicals in the Belleville district of Paris, on Thursday night, was addressed by M. GAMBETTA, a member of the Chamber, who advised no further resort to violence, urging that their triumph must be through universal suffrage. M. OLLIVIER has made a satisfactory explanation of the cause of dissolving the Plebiscitary Committee in response to the interpellation submitted on Thursday, and the new Ministry, it is said, enters on its labors with the confidence of an overwhelming majority....M. EDOUARD LABOULAYE was interrupted during his lecture in the Law school, and was finally compelled to leave the hall followed by the students, from whom he escaped with difficulty.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, yesterday, a joint resolution restoring to New-Orleans the property used as a Branch Mint was adopted. Among the new bills introduced was one to promote the cultivation of the public lands, and another to improve the water communication between the Mississippi River and Lake Michigan by opening the Wisconsin and Fox Rivers. The House bill for supplying a deficiency in the appropriation for the mileage of members was reported with amendments, as was also the bill appropriating $325,000 in gold to be paid England in settlement of the Hudson's Bay Company claims. A motion to adjourn on Monday—Decoration-day—was adopted. At 12½ P. M. the Appropriation bill was taken up. The amendment giving equal pay to male and female clerks in the Departments was agreed to—yeas 35, nays 20. The amendment appropriating $500,000 for the extension of the Capitol grounds, after a protracted debate, in which the question of moving the capital Westward was brought up, was also agreed to—yeas 42, nays 10. The amendment appropriating $100,000 for an Arctic expedition occasioned a facetious discussion, but was finally also adopted—yeas 26, nays 25. Amendments were also adopted increasing the salary of the Chief-Justice of the Supreme Court to $10,000, and of the other Judges in proportion. The bill was at length passed, when a recess was taken. At the evening session District of Columbia business was considered.

In the House, the South Carolina contested election case—WALLACE against SIMPSON—was disposed of, the former, after some debate, being admitted to his seat, and the oath of office administered. A number of reports from the Committees on Foreign Affairs and on Pensions, mostly of a private character, were received and acted upon, and Mr. WILLARD, from the latter Committee, obtained leave to report today a public bill in reference to pensions to survivors of the war of 1812. A new rule, forbidding change of a vote after the announcement of the result, and also forbidding the record of an absent member's vote, was adopted. The report on the Amendment bill was then proceeded with and discussed at length. It was finally agreed to by a strict party vote—yeas 133, nays 58. After passing a resolution for an adjournment on Monday, and the transaction of some further routine business, pending the consideration of the bill to reduce taxation, the House at 5 o'clock adjourned.

GENERAL.

The exultation of the Conservatives in Richmond, Va., over the result of the municipal election there was premature, as the official count gives the city to to the Republican candidate, Mr. CHAHOON, and his ticket. The complexion, politically, of the Council is not yet known. The Republicans also carry Petersburg and Portsmouth, and the Conservatives elect their ticket in Lynchburg, Danville, Norfolk and Alexandria.

A Quebec dispatch says a destructive fire, which began in the woods, is raging on the Saguenay River, covering an area of five miles wide by thirty miles long. Five hundred families, numbering 4,500 persons, are reduced to destitution, while six grown persons and two children were burned to death. The wharf at Ha Ha Bay and several churches were destroyed.

The presence of two delegates from the Reformed Presbyterian Church in the Presbyterian General Assembly in Philadelphia, is regarded as pointing toward a future union, although it is now deemed impossible. The report on reconstruction was adopted, with a recommendation to instruct each Presbytery to vote upon it at the first appointed meeting.

Two more British men-of-war, according to a Halifax, N. S., dispatch, have been ordered to the fishing grounds.

The Massachusetts House of Representatives, yesterday afternoon, refused, by a vote of 133 to 90 to give State aid to the Boston, Hartford and Erie Railway.

The trial of WM. E. HILL and JOHN PHILLIPS, (colored,) for the murder of WM. JACOBS, in Stoughton, Mass., resulted yesterday in a verdict of murder in the first degree against the former, and in the second degree against the latter. HILL was sentenced to be hanged, and PHILLIPS to the State Prison for life.

NATHANIEL WILLIS, a publisher and journalist, and father of the late N. P. WILLIS, died at his residence in Boston on Thursday. He was ninety years of age.

The Protestant Episcopal Council of Virginia and West Virginia assembled at Wheeling on the 26th, Bishop WHITTLE presiding. It will probably continue in session during the week.

The President has entirely recovered from his recent sickness, and is today attending to his official duties.

The Captain of the steam-ship Bavaria, from Hamburg, at this port yesterday, will accept our thanks for liberal additions to our German files.

The Union Ferry Company have accepted a proposition of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund to reduce the fare on their ferries to one cent between the hours of 5 and 7½ morning and afternoon. In consideration of this reduction their leases are to be renewed for ten years, at a rental of $1 per annum.

Advice Which Means Nothing.

"It is demonstrable that we were defeated last Fall by fraud, and this Spring by apathy. Whatever agencies can be effectively employed to remove these causes are the remedies needful to prevent future defeats. Fault finding and doleful prognostications will only aggravate the disease. The State can be won back in the next battle if we make an earnest fight for it. We must begin the campaign early, and keep "hammering away" until the coveted end is accomplished. Let us, therefore, stop croaking and go to work."

These words are from the Albany Evening Journal. The general advice they contain amounts to this: "When your affairs are in confusion say nothing about it—do nothing—wait until the trouble blows over." That system may sometimes answer in a small household, but it is not one upon which great parties can be conducted. Freedom of discussion and interchange of ideas have always been sources of strength to the Republican Party, and the policy of "hushing things up" is not adapted to the emergency in which we find ourselves.

We have been defeated by "apathy," says our contemporary. Of course we have—the statement begs the whole question. The thing to settle is, what is the cause of the apathy? Is it not a general want of confidence in the present management of the party, and a dissatisfaction with the "tinkering" of public questions which goes on week after week in Congress?

We occupy a prouder position before the world today than at any previous period in our history. Yet we do not seem to have a foreign policy. Has the Cuban affair been well managed—has it even been adequately discussed? Have the Alabama claims been settled? The "let alone" and "don't-say-anything-about-it" system has had a good long trial, little as the Evening Journal appears to think so. The apathy of the people is to be traced to the supineness or incompetency of too many Republican leaders' Even reconstruction is not completed. The ground has been covered with large stones, but where is the edifice which was to have been erected? Have even the foundations been dug?

"Let us stop croaking and go to work," says our contemporary. By all means—but does it see any prospect of anybody going to work? In what state are the questions which pressed for the attention of Congress when it first assembled? Pretty much the same state as they were in before Christmas. We want something done. At present it is all cry and no wool. As for "croaking," there will be enough of it after the Fall elections, if a true sense of the public necessities cannot be driven into the minds of those who have charged themselves with the destinies of the Republican Party.

Fight the Second.

Nothing would satisfy the Fenians but another fight, and they have had it. The preliminary operations were conducted in a manner to inspire the contributors to the Fenian fund with the most sanguine expectations. Poor Gen. O'NEIL was thrown overboard on all sides. It almost seemed that the best thing that could happen to him would be to find a secure home in Burlington Jail for the rest of his life. It was conclusively proved that the failure of the first day's battle arose from three causes: 1. The officers did not know their business. 2. The men were "demoralized" by the first fire of the Canadians. 3. The invasion was made at the wrong point. There never was an unlucky campaign yet which could not be accounted for on some theories of the kind.

Then came the second invasion. At 5 o'clock yesterday morning the troops marched to the north bank of Trout River. Many of them wore green jackets, and otherwise presented as formidable an appearance as could be looked for on so short a notice. The army constructed breastworks, and all went well until the Canadian forces made their appearance and opened fire. Then history repeated itself. The invaders were driven back, and in the course of yesterday evening many of them were safely on United States ground. Three hundred Fenians were engaged, and most of them managed to arrive at Malone in time for supper and bed. Better that than the cold hospitality of the Canadians. Ten wagon loads of war materials were abandoned by the Fenians at Massena. The preparations were abundant, but all went wrong with the invaders from beginning to end.

Irishmen are not cowards, and the miserable show they have made in this new raid must be ascribed to the fact that the Fenian leaders do not know what they are about, and that the rank and file know it, and consequently have no confidence in any plan of operations which they are invited to carry out. When Irishmen are properly led, they do not run away. They are now simply entrapped into a hare-brained scheme, the utter impracticability of which they recognize as soon as they touch the "enemy's" territory. The best thing they can all do is to come back, and never allow themselves to be made fools of again.

What Shall We Do Next?

When the Republican idea, after years of discussion, had gathered sufficient vigor to justify the formation of a party, it was essentially different from what we recognize as Republicanism today. The policy of 1856 was the germ of the creed which has since been developed. Emancipation was an end too vast to be hoped for at first, and the utmost the infant party dared to assert was that the Federal domain should be dedicated to freedom. Outside of this issue the party had little or no capital. Its apparent poverty, however, proved a source of strength rather than weakness, by consolidating the sentiment and action of the party to such an extent as to enable it to succeed in the canvass of 1860. It is questionable if, with a more diversified policy, the party could have elected Mr. LINCOLN. On that one issue, however, it harmonized the otherwise discordant political elements of Conservatism and Radicalism, and achieved a victory.

The leaders evidently understood the necessities of the occasion, and were governed by those necessities in the construction of the Chicago platform. We have always regarded the great settlement arrived at on that occasion as a masterpiece of strategy, simply because it avoided all mischievous complications, and left the way clear for a combination of all the anti-Democratic elements. It is curious to recall the issues of that campaign, and to note how moderate they were in comparison with those which prevailed in 1864 and 1868. Yet it is clear that had it not been for the rebellion the party could not have been long maintained, and in all probability it would have gone to pieces amid the dissensions which would surely have attended the attempt to enlarge its policy. The war averted that catastrophe, and turned the progressive genius of the party in the direction of emancipation. It took two years to bring the party up to the assertion of that idea as a policy, and it has taken ever since to adjust the details, and bring the States into practical conformity with the measures since rendered necessary.

That great work being ended, the Republican Party is now in a critical position. Filled with impulses of progress, it finds itself with an accomplished mission, but without any settled or affirmative issues upon which to construct a new ground of action for the future. The elements of which the party was composed still retain their old characteristics, and cannot remain in perfect combination, in a state of rest. A very large section of the party requires a broader field of action, and is unwilling to delve any longer among the political débris of the past four years. Having wrought out the principle of emancipation, and fortified it beyond all possibility of harm in the future, it desires to move forward and grapple with the political necessities which are rapidly being developed. The negro has ceased to be a central figure, and the animosities and revenges of the past have to a very great extent died out.

The impulse of progress still remains as strong as ever in the party, and it will surely find exercise in some direction. Within the last few months a very curious phenomenon has appeared. That section which, five years ago, was thought to be dangerously inclined to progress, is now clinging to past achievements; while the Conservatives of that time are clamoring for the adoption of new issues, and the enunciation of a broad national scheme of future action. Congress affords a striking example of this anomalous condition of the party. Both Houses are arrayed in two factions, the one seeking to inaugurate new and harsh measures toward the South, and the other to secure pacification, and to construct some wise and prudent policy independently of the old issues of the war. There is no question how the great body of the people stand as between the two. They are tired of the struggle which has so long existed with regard to the negro, and desire to march with the times. The world does not stand still, although the Republican Party may. We must deal with the live questions of the hour.

How this can be accomplished is the problem which is pressing for a solution. Although we do not believe that the policy of a great party can be suddenly formed, we are sure that it is the part of wisdom promptly to grapple with all difficulties of politics and government. It is idle to attempt to evade or postpone action. It is not to be denied that the Republican Party lacks a broad national policy with regard to Finance, Taxation, and Imposts. For six months, Republican leaders in Congress have been at loggerheads on those subjects, and the country is apparently no nearer a solution of any one of them than it was at the beginning of the session. Yet the approaching campaign will probably largely depend on these issues, and the whole nation is anxiously waiting to have them cleared out of the way in order that it may comprehend its true position and prospects. It is to be feared that the people will refuse to wait much longer.

Why Waste the Public Lands?

In discussing the proposed tariff of 1841, JOHN QUINCY ADAMS laid great stress upon the necessity of paying our expenses without any recourse to the revenue to be derived from the public lands. He argued that the expenses of a nation should always be provided for by revenues, independent of temporary circumstances. We can carry the idea further with great advantage. The public lands should be used in great moderation in payment for the construction of any public work. They are the reserve which should be made for many years to help us in our present position of superiority to other nations. It is through our cheap land that American labor is prevented from falling below a certain standard. It is, therefore, important that it should not be taken up too rapidly, even by the settlers whose occupation makes them a source of wealth. A new condition of things will result respecting labor when land becomes scarce, and we are not too well prepared to solve the problem as yet. Meanwhile, it is vastly important that our domain should not become a means of speculation—that if it is put upon the market, it shall at least be made productive.

For these reasons, we oppose any further grants of lands to railroads as a cheaper method of encouragement than money. If these enterprises are entitled to Government aid, let Government give of its present means; but we object to its mortgaging the future in order to accelerate our material development. It is by no means an unnecessary caution which we interpose, to be provident of our public lands, in days when we are so much in the habit of regarding them as inexhaustible. A few years ago, prudent men were laughed at when they endeavored to check the reckless destruction of our forests. It has taken less than their lifetime to show how judicious was their warning. New conditions are more and more rapidly modifying the relations of labor and capital in this country. Immigration is increasing, instead of falling off. It comes not only from Europe at the East, but from Asia, which has become our West. From the latter source the influx threatens soon to attain colossal proportions. It will be well for us to heed these signs of changes, which must be vast, and which may come upon us with a suddenness that finds us unprepared. The great safeguard, when we find that our increase of population is assuming proportions so rapidly as to threaten the happy relations which labor has hitherto borne to capital, is the cheapness of our land as compared with other nations. Let us not be too anxious to get rid of these lands until we ascertain all the elements of the problem presented for our solution.

Love's Young Dream.

Life is full of surprising contrasts. At the very moment when our Fenian fellow-citizens were letting loose the dogs of war to harry the Canadian borders, and break the slumbers of valorous volunteers, the Universal Peace Union was resolving at Dodworth Hall to do away with fighting altogether. The leader of the new movement is Mr. LOVE, in odd contradiction of the popular notion which of old made Venus the bride of Mars, and still rejoices to couple the brave and fair. We regret that Mr. LOVE's following is not so gigantic as his scheme. In fact, not more than a corporal's guard, perhaps we might more fitly say a baker's dozen, of sympathizers, joined in his aspirations. The contrast we have spoken of, however, suggests a remedy for this lamentable deficiency. Let Mr. LOVE and his coadjutors simply annex the Fenian Brotherhood. Recent events have proved that under all their martial fury, they are secretly men after Mr. LOVE's own heart. Gen. O'NEIL, if he ever gets out of jail, would be a worthy Vice-President of the Universal Peace Union, and the heroes who benevolently ran away from Pigeon Hill, most zealous prophets of the new dispensation. The collocation of names, too, in the chiefs of the amalgamated organization, would be at once touching and effective. LOVE and SAVAGE—the lion and the lamb—have we not here a foreshadowing of the millenium? By all means let Mr. LOVE exert at once his charms to soothe the savage breast, and bring the F. B. under his philanthropic wing. Votes unnumbered will thus be his, and power, it may be, to effect the designs he cherishes against the Constitution. He can then give us a Seventeenth Amendment, abolishing war and making it a penal offence to interfere with the noble red man in his favorite pastime of scalping his pale-face brother. Or why not repeal the Constitution at once, substitute Dr. WATTS' hymns as the law of the land, and condemn all army officers to perpetual exile in Philadelphia, with the exception of Gen. SHERMAN, who is to be delivered over to the Piegans with a recommendation to mercy? We commend these suggestions to Mr. LOVE's consideration, and meantime we shall await with anxiety the future developments of his Arcadian scheme.

Naturalization.

The bill introduced by Senator CONKLING to provide for the naturalization of foreigners, is intended as a substitute for the one previously introduced, and which was prepared by Judge DAVIS, of the House. It provides that the Judges of District and Circuit Courts of the United States shall have exclusive jurisdiction of naturalization, and that all Registrars in Bankruptcy shall also be Commissioners of Naturalization. It requires that a public register shall be kept by each Court of every application, and of the facts upon which it is based, for at least one month before the certificate of naturalization is granted; and that during that time any person may resist the application and interpose evidence against it. The other provisions are substantially the same as were contained in Judge DAVIS' bill. It requires four years and six months' residence in the country, and one year and six months after a declaration of intention has been filed before a certificate of naturalization can be granted; and the certificate does not confer citizenship until six months after its date.

The bill strikes us as a great improvement on the one previously introduced, and we do not see how it can be reasonably objected to, even by those who are most interested. Corrupt politicians may complain, and they probably will; but that fact ought to be accepted as a recommendation of the bill. The foreigner, seeking to become a citizen, ought certainly to be satisfied with the new plan, provided he is actuated by the proper motives, and appreciates his true political interests. It is not intended to throw any new difficulties in the way of acquiring citizenship, but only to dignify the franchise by making the preliminaries more decorous and formal than they have heretofore been. Practically, the necessary sojourn before naturalization is not changed, but the fact that six months must elapse after the certificate is granted before the applicant becomes a citizen, makes the term five years, as at present.

Of course a certain class of Democratic leaders will cry out against this change, for the reason that it will prevent many of the outrageous frauds which they have been accustomed to perpetrate in large cities just before election. For the same reason they will strenuously object to the quasi trial of the applicant involved in the thirty days' public scrutiny to which he is subjected. They will strive to make it appear that the Republican Party is not in sympathy with naturalized citizens; but a very little reflection will serve to convince their accustomed dupes that this is an error. If the bill introduced by Senator CONKLING is accepted by Congress, as we hope it will be, it will prove a permanent boon to all foreigners who become citizens under it, and in due time they will appreciate the fact.

Enforcing the Fifteenth Amendment.

The bill agreed upon by the Conference Committee of the two Houses of Congress, to enforce the Fifteenth Amendment, was passed by the House last night, after a sharp debate, and by a strict party vote. As was to have been expected, the Democrats were bitter in their opposition, thus affording another demonstration of their innate hostility to everything in the remotest degree connected with the policy of reconstruction. The bill is now sure to become a law, and may be regarded as the completion of the grand scheme of which emancipation was the starting point. When it comes to be enforced in all the States alike, it cannot fail to commend itself as a necessary complement to the Constitutional Amendment. In due time, when the passions and prejudices of the present hour shall have subsided, we believe that even Democrats will accord their approval to all these measures.

Of course the Fifteenth Amendment amounted to nothing without legislation, and the bill passed yesterday seems to answer the requirements of the time. Its provisions are none too stringent, in our opinion, to insure a general and fair enforcement of political rights without distinction of race, color or previous condition of servitude. It is now fair to assume that the necessary work of Congress in that direction is complete, and that even Mr. SUMNER will be puzzled to suggest anything more to be done. The bill has received the closest scrutiny of the best legal minds in Congress, and we doubt not will be found to cover every possible contingency which can arise. We gave the full text of the original bill when it was introduced a few days ago, and we have since given the substance of the amendments which have been made. It is not necessary, therefore, to restate its provisions.

A Question of Policy.

The fifth section of the first article of the Constitution of the United States says that "Each House shall be the judge of the elections, returns, and qualifications of its own members." The authority thus granted to Congress by the Constitution makes it a duty to exercise this right whenever substantial justice will be promoted. But it is a right which should be guarded from the possibility of appearing to serve party ends.

We remember the outcry justly raised in 1839 against the Democratic House of Representatives, which refused to respect the seal of the State of New-Jersey, as an evidence of the election of Whig members of that House. The charge of partisanship in making this decision was one of the most damaging blows to the Democratic cause in the campaign of 1840. Singularly enough, the retaliation against the Democratic Party came in the application of the same severe exercise of power to a member of Congress from that State—in the removal of Mr. STOCKTON from the United States Senate.

While there is no doubt that all kinds of illegal measures were used in Louisiana to intimidate, defraud, and make the election of Congressmen a mere show, the rebuke would have been better conveyed had Congress declared the election void, instead of seizing upon the Constitutional power as a means of increasing the dominant majority in the House. The Republican Party need not resort to any such means of recruiting its forces. It is through political integrity alone that we can maintain the strong position we have long occupied. Any advantage, even though strictly legal, which diminishes the authority of the ballot-box, must be an injury in the end. Even though it may be necessary to declare an election void, it is almost an impossibility to prove that the minority candidate has received a majority of legal votes. There can be little doubt that frauds and intimidations were very great on the part of the Democrats in the Louisiana elections, and we believe that Congress had good grounds for setting them aside, as it did in several instances. We wish that it had done so in all.

Life Insurance Investigation.

One of the greatest dangers connected with the management of life insurance companies in this country has been immunity from criticism on the part of the policy-holders. The officers and directors have pursued their own way, almost without criticism, certainly without hindrance. To this circumstance, quite as much as to the recklessness engendered by competition, must be ascribed the alarming growth of expenses, and the multiplication of what may be termed fancy forms of business, to an extent which has thrown into the shade the genuine, provident principle on which life insurance rests. The policy-holders have been content to receive official assurances of great prosperity, and to trust implicitly in the wisdom and integrity of directors and officers.

The meeting of policy-holders held the other day in Boston is, we trust, the beginning of a more healthy condition of affairs. The company they are interested in is a New-York company, and one which we believe may safely challenge the most searching inquiry; but the arrangement made for representing the Boston policy-holders at an approaching meeting, and for promoting investigation into specific matters, is so wise that we shall be glad to see the example extensively followed. The system by which the officers of companies have, with the help of proxies, contrived to keep everything in their own hands, cannot too soon end. It is wrong in principle, and in operation most disastrous. If policy-holders generally begin to realize the deep interest they have in good management, and the right they have to control the direction and business of the companies of which they are members, there will be good reason to hope for life insurance reform.

Senator SAULSBURY may, after all, be right in his suggestion that the only Arctic expedition worthy of Government subsidy would be one which should undertake finally to remove the North Pole, that ignis-fatuus of geographers, and so put an end to the waste of life and treasure that has resulted from vain attempts to get near it. There is, we believe, at this moment, a hardy little band of German explorers on their way to the frozen sea, and who, moreover, purpose to Winter in the far North, with a view to solving some of the geographical problems relating to that locality. But we understand that the same scientific wisdom which dictated the outfit of this expedition also succeeded in raising the necessary funds, and even keeping in view the indefinite prospect of "advantage to the fishing interests," we should imagine that our Government might have been spared the sum of one hundred thousand dollars voted yesterday.

In the judgment of the military authorities, the elevation of Senator REVELS was a less momentous step in the advance of the colored race, than the apparition of a negro cadet at West Point. If reports speak truly the enterprising colored lad may expect to have something more than the stated curriculum of our military school to pass through, and the resolute expression which appears to be visible on his countenance will probably find occasion to be deepened should he succeed in commencing his studies. Let us hope that the scruples of the officers in command will not unduly affect the severity of the preliminary examination, since it would be somewhat difficult to explain why a race that has shown its fitness to occupy the Bar, the Bench, the Pulpit and the seat of the legislator, should be debarred from military command.

The news from San Domingo, this morning, shows that the project of annexation finds favor with all classes of the community, save the foreign merchants, who desire to preserve their monopoly of the trade of the island. If the pending negotiations break down, the island will at once be plunged in all the horrors of civil war. Since our own interests and those of the people of San Domingo coincide so thoroughly, would it not be well to settle this business at once, and so conclude a bargain which we certainly could never have reason to repent?

Pending the completion of the East River Bridge, the development of Brooklyn will be materially assisted by the liberal policy of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, who have renewed the leases of the Union Ferry Company for ten years at the nominal sum of one dollar instead of fifty thousand dollars per annum, as heretofore, on condition of their running boats between the hours of 5 and 7½, morning and evening, at a fare of one cent. The precedent of obtaining popular concessions in exchange for special privileges granted to powerful corporations is a good one, and might be applied here as has been done elsewhere to the great railroad lines.

The French irreconcilables have had a meeting in the quarter which has become historical from being the scene of ROCHEFORT's arrest, and the abortive barricades that followed it. Probably in the very building where M. FLOURENS fired his revolutionary pistol the assembled Radicals came to the very wise resolution that there should be an end to violence, and that instead of trusting to the barricades, they should have recourse to the ballot-box in order to effect reforms. It would have saved some useless expenditure of life had this very obvious conclusion been reached sooner. Violent as the eloquent advocate, M. GAMBETTA, is, he was but lately all too moderate for the extreme Republicans, and it shows a return of better counsels that the advice he tendered was received with so much approval.

Much as we desire economy in every public department, we cannot but approve of the resolution arrived at by the Senate to pay the female clerks the same salaries as males when the same duties are performed. There ought to be no unfair restrictions placed upon women who are anxious to earn their daily bread. Let the woman's rights advocates turn their attention to making female education of that thorough and practical kind which will enable women to enter on the career of life with advantages equal to men, and they will find that the average common sense and fairness of male humanity, against which they are so fond of inveighing, will interpose no needless obstacles to female competition.

A sensation was created in banking circles yesterday by the decision of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue requiring cashiers' checks to be stamped as notes. The construction of the law strikes us as rather forced, and if adhered to it cannot fail to embarrass financial business in this City. It applies with equal force to all memorandum checks given to expedite exchanges and as vouchers in cases of discount. The new ruling must lead to the adoption of some new device for transacting that class of business, for the banks cannot afford so serious a tax as would be involved.

WASHINGTON.

Important Letter from Secretary Boutwell—Fees of Revenue Officers—Proposed Revision of Salaries of Customs Officers—Increase of the Judges' Salaries—Passage of the Fifteenth Amendment Bill—Miscellaneous.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The Secretary of the Treasury, today, transmitted to Congress the following important letter on the subject of allowing officers of the revenue to participate in the proceeds of fines, penalties, and forfeitures and moieties, and also proposing a general revision of the salaries of Customs officers:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, May 25, 1870.

Hon. James G. Blaine, Speaker House of Representatives:

SIR: The following resolution was adopted by the House of Representatives on March 11:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury and the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, each, be required to communicate to the House his views and opinion in regard to the advantage or disadvantage to the Government of abolishing, in the collection of duties and the collection of the internal revenue taxes, all allowances of moieties or shares of penalties, fines, forfeitures, or recoveries to officers of the revenue, or informers; and also any statement of facts or practices under existing laws which will enforce or illustrate such views or opinion.

As I understand this resolution, my views are desired only in regard to that portion of it which relates to Customs duties. In my annual report of December last, I expressed the opinion that the system which allows to revenue officers and others shares of fines, penalties and forfeitures, was accompanied with evils greater than the benefit derived from it. I then stated that it often occurs that revenue officers are led to assert claims in behalf of the Government which have no just foundation in law or fact, and then, when real claims exist, it is often the object of the informers and officers who share in the penalties, to misrepresent the case to the Department, so as to secure the greatest advantage to themselves. My opinion as to the existence of these evils, as well in the customs service as in that of the Internal Revenue, is unchanged. The shares allowed by law to Collectors, Surveyors, and Naval Officers of Customs are such, as in the City of New-York, to swell the incomes of those officers far beyond the value of any service which they render to the Government. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1869, those officers received in the aggregate the sum of $81,291 90, in addition to the salaries allowed by law. In the same city, during a previous year, a Deputy Surveyor received nearly $9,000 as an informer. In other cities persons have received as officers or informers very large sums of money, although not of sufficient amount to attract notice when compared with the sums received by officers and informers in New-York.

These, however, are only the lesser evils of the present system. The interest of informers and of officials receiving shares, is largely in the continuance of practices from which they derive pecuniary advantages, while the interest of the Government is in breaking up the system and punishing the parties who have been concerned in frauds upon the revenue. It is a noticeable fact that nearly all the proceedings in the Courts are against the property, and very few against persons, while the interest of the Government is much larger in convicting criminals than it is in securing any portion of the property smuggled. The officers of the Customs under the law are entitled to a share of all fines, penalties and forfeitures, and the whether they have officially or personally contributed to the result or not. A case is now pending in the Department in which a former collector, surveyor and Naval Officer, have received one-fourth the penalty of $75,000, exacted by the Government in a case instituted by the Department itself. By a letter addressed to a special agent of the Department, a fraud which appears to have been prosecuted to a final conclusion without the intervention or aid of the Customs officers named under the existing laws, the informers in this case are entitled to another fourth of the $75,000. Three persons preferred claims for the informers' share. Upon the rejection by the Department of the claims of two of these persons, the officers of the Customs at New-York, who had already received $18,750, gave notice that, upon the failure of the informers to establish their claim, another quarter would be claimed by the Collector, Surveyor and Naval Officer, under the act of 1799. Although the practice of allowing shares to informers as rewards for their information is not open to all the objections incident to the allowance of official shares, it is nevertheless, in a large degree, demoralizing to the service and injurious to the public. In a majority of cases the informer is an officer of the revenue, and in most of the instances in which the fact is otherwise the revenue officers are notoriously rewarded for their services by the informer. It is to be feared, also, that they often make this reward a condition, without which their active assistance will not be rendered. Were officers to be excluded and citizens generally admitted to participate in these rewards, the officers would still continue to share in a manner less legitimate, and for that reason far more objectionable.

Should Congress repeal the laws allowing officers a share in all fines, penalties and forfeitures, it will be proper to raise their salaries materially, especially in the City of New-York. It may be wise to place in the hands of the Secretary of the Treasury a sum of money to be distributed to persons who may furnish valuable information to the Government. It would be better, however, to rely exclusively upon the integrity and zeal of the public officers properly compensated upon fixed salaries than to continue the present system. In the very nature of the case the Department is compelled to rely for information in regard to the facts of a case, and the expediency of making a compromise upon the representations made by District-Attorneys and officers of the Customs; and those representations can never be regarded as entirely trustworthy, while the persons making them have an interest in the adjustment of suits or in the continuance of proceedings which are personal and altogether distinct from the interest of the Government. The statements made by interested officials are sometimes corrupt, sometimes partial, and always open to the suspicion that they are untrustworthy.

I have the honor to transmit herewith a bill fixing the salaries of the officers of the Customs throughout the United States, based upon the recommendation contained in this communication. The bill also contains a section repealing all laws allowing shares in fines, penalties and forfeitures, to officers of the Customs and to informers. I submit a table showing the compensation received by Collectors, Naval Officers and Surveyors, for the year ending June 30, 1868, including salaries and shares of penalties, fines and forfeitures, and also the amount of compensation proposed. It will be seen from this table that the cost of the service is not materially affected by the proposed change, but, however, that there is a slight reduction in expense. I think it my duty to state that I am fully satisfied that the laws allowing shares to officers and informers in internal revenue cases should be repealed, and that the District-Attorney should be deprived of all pecuniary interest in the cases of the Government orginating in or on behalf of the Treasury Department.

I am, very respectfully,
GEORGE S. BOUTWELL,
Secretary of the Treasury.

The Secretary accompanies his letter with a statement showing the compensation received by officers of the Customs for the year ending 30th June, 1868, including fines, with the compensation proposed by the bill. From this it appears that the compensation received by the Collector at New-York for the above year was $26,599; the Surveyor, $26,824; the Collector at San Francisco, $11,871; Naval Officer, $10,471; Surveyor, $9,971; Collector at Boston, $8,027; Naval Officer, $6,637; Surveyor, $6,042; New-Orleans Collector, $6,685; Naval Officer, $5

Collector, $7,056; Naval Officer, $5,666; Surveyor, $5,071; Baltimore Collector, $8,542; Naval Officer, $7,252; Surveyor, $6,748. Secretary BOUTWELL proposes in lieu of the above, the following salaries:

Collectors.

New-York	$15,000
San Francisco	12,000
Boston	8,000
New-Orleans	8,000
Portland	6,000
Philadelphia	6,000
Baltimore	6,000

Naval Officers.

San Francisco	$8,000
Boston and New-Orleans, each	6,000
Philadelphia and Baltimore, each	5,000

Surveyors.

New-York and San Francisco, each	$8,000
Boston and New-Orleans, each	6,000
Portland, Philadelphia and Baltimore, each	5,000

WORK IN THE CENSUS OFFICE.

Gen. WALKER, the very capable head of the census, is doing some good work in a quiet way at the present time. For some weeks past the clerks in his office have mailed each day from three to five tons of blanks to the Marshals throughout the country. Mr. WALKER is engaged in thoroughly organising his force, and if he is only properly and intelligently aided by Congress, there is little doubt that, in point of accuracy and promptness of publication, the forthcoming census will be a great improvement on the last.

BRIDGEPORT REVENUE DISTRICT.

The Secretary of the Treasury, to whom by the Commerce Committee of the House, was referred the bill providing for the changing of the name of the Fairfield, Conn., Internal Revenue District to that of the Bridgeport District, with the residence of the Collector at the latter place, has written a letter approving of the change, so that there is now no doubt that the bill will be passed.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE SENATE.

There was a long discussion in the Senate, today, on the removal of the capital, which came up incidentally on an amendment to the Appropriation bill, to appropriate $500,000 for the purpose of enlarging the Capitol grounds. There was a very full debate on the subject, and the capital removing movement fared very badly. The amendment was carried by a vote of more than four to one. The Legislative and Executive Appropriation bill was passed, and the evening session was devoted to the consideration of the bill to give the District of Columbia a territorial government.

THE HIGH-TARIFF MEN AND MR. WELLS.

It will be remembered that the House of Representatives ordered the majority and minority reports of the Committee on Manufactures, in respect to the Special Commissioner of the Revenue, to be printed together. It was the original intention of the high-tariff party to ask of the House a large extra edition, but finding their charges against the Commissioner completely answered and refuted in the minority report, and themselves placed on the defensive, they have abandoned the idea of extra official editions of both reports, and have adopted the plan of ordering on private account a large edition of the majority report alone for circulation, thus leaving the impression that no answer has been made to it, or even attempted. The plan will not work, for measures have been taken to give to the minority report an equally extensive circulation.

INCREASE IN JUDGES' SALARIES.

One of the very last amendments which the Senate added to the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill was a meritorious reform in the matter of judicial salaries. An amendment was adopted fixing the salaries of United States Judges as follows:

Chief Justice of the Supreme Court	$10,000
Associate Justices	8,000
United States Circuit Judges	7,500
United States District Judges	5,000
Chief Justice Court of Claims	6,000
Associate Justices, same Court	5,000
Chief Justice Supreme Court District Columbia	5,500
Associate Justices, same Court	5,000

THE CURRENCY BILL.

The Banking and Currency Committee today considered further amendments to the Currency bill, now before them, but only one of importance was agreed to. This relates to the redistribution section, which is so changed that the scaling process is to apply pro rata to all banks having $500,000 or more capital in those States which have an excess of their proportion. In the bill as heretofore reported, this scaling process stopped with banks of $500,000 circulation.

THE FIFTEENTH AMENDMENT BILL.

There was a sharp and vigorous two-hours debate in the House today, when the Conference report on the bill to enforce the Fifteenth Amendment came up for final action. Mr. COX assailed the bill from the standpoint of Democratic prejudice and partisanship, and he was replied to with much force and power by Judge DAVIS. To all objections that the bill punished violators of its provisions severely, he answered: "Let the Democratic Party remain guiltless, and all will be well with them. The law punishes only the criminal." Judge BINGHAM then closed the debate in one of his eloquent and powerful arguments, and the bill passed by a party vote—yeas 133, nays 55.

THE TAX BILL.

The Internal Revenue Tax bill was reported back at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and its consideration begun. The first section, covering thirty pages, was read, when the House adjourned. By special agreement the consideration of the bill proceeds under such circumstances that it is at all times the regular order, and it will require unanimous consent to bring in any other business until this is finished. This will result in pushing it through very rapidly.

INCOME TAX IN VIRGINIA.

Supervisor PRESBURY reports that the income tax in the State of Virginia has all been assessed except in a portion of one district, and that the receipts from income tax will be increased about twenty-five per cent. over the amount of last year.

DECORATION DAY.

Both Houses will probably observe Decoration Day on Monday next. The House today agreed to adjourn over from to-morrow until Tuesday next.

PERSONAL.

The President has accepted an invitation from Senator CAMERON to accompany him on a trout-fishing excursion in Pennsylvania, leaving this city June 9, and being absent four days.... A number of the members of the Presbyterian Synod lately in session in Philadelphia, and a number of the members of the Baptist Home Mission Convention, also lately in session in Philadelphia, arrived here this morning and called on the President and several members of the Cabinet for the purpose of paying their respects....Postmaster-General CRESWELL stated today that he had received no information of a strike or rebellion against Mrs. VAN LEW, the Postmistress at Richmond, Va., and that he had not ordered any clerks from this city to take charge of the work in that office. He has the greatest confidence in Mrs. VAN LEW, and states that he will sustain her.

FORTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

SECOND SESSION.

SENATE... WASHINGTON, Friday, May 27.

Mr. KELLOGG called up the joint resolution directing the restoration to the city authorities of New-Orleans of property heretofore occupied by the United States as a branch mint. Passed.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Bills were introduced and referred as follows:

By Mr. RAMSEY—To promote the cultivation of public lands.

By Mr. HOWE—For the improvement of water communication between the Mississippi River and Lake Michigan, by the Wisconsin and Fox Rivers.

By Mr. RICE—For a bridge across the Kansas River at Little Rock, Ark.

By Mr. PATTERSON—To prevent any officer or employe of the corporation of Washington from acting as an officer of election or registration.

MILEAGE OF MEMBERS.

Mr. MORRILL, of Maine, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported with amendments the House bill to supply a deficiency in the appropriation for mileage of members of the House of Representatives.

The amendments appropriate $1,200,000 to supply the deficiency in the amount required this year to pay for the collection of custom duties, and $2,000 for the pay of special counsel employed by the Treasury Department.

THE HUDSON'S BAY COMPANY CLAIMS.

Mr. SUMNER, from the Committee on Foreign Relations, reported without amendment the bill appropriating $395,000 in gold to pay the Government of Great Britain the amount awarded under the treaty of July 1, 1863, to settle the claims of the Hudson's Bay Company and of the Puget Sound Agricultural Company.

THE APPROPRIATION BILL.

At 12½ the consideration of the Appropriation bill was resumed.

Female Clerks.

The amendment placing female clerks in the Departments on equality with males, in the matter of compensation, was further debated.

Mr. TRUMBULL argued to disprove Mr. SHERMAN'S showing, that the proposition would necessitate an additional expense of $400,000 per annum.

Mr. YATES hoped the Democrats would favor the amendment, as it had nothing of color in it except that which was fair and lovely.

The amendment finally prevailed—yeas 36, nays 20.

Extending the Capitol Grounds.

The next amendment reported from the Committee of the Whole, the appropriation for the extension of the Capitol grounds, was read.

Mr. HARLAN argued that no public necessity existed for the proposed expenditure; that the only consideration upon which it was based was the personal gratification of Congressmen and visitors to the city.

The discussion was continued at length, each speaker being allowed five minutes.

Mr. MORRILL, of Vermont, said the City of St. Louis, to which it was proposed the capital should be removed, was the chief city of a State which would have gone into the rebellion but for the efforts of one man, Gen. FRANK P. BLAIR, to whom he was willing to accord all credit due. He would keep the capital in a loyal community.

Mr. YATES said the removal had been represented as having received a black eye in a former debate on the subject; that it had been voted down in the Senate. He stood up now to predict more—that not one North-western member of the House of Representatives would be returned unless pledged to vote for the removal of the capital to the Mississippi Valley.

Mr. MORRILL, of Vermont, remarked that if the sole power of removal was left to either the Senator from Illinois, (Mr. YATES,) or the Senator from Iowa, (Mr. HARLAN,) he did not think either of them would ever exercise it.

Mr. YATES—Why not? Where was the best blood of Vermont except in the far West, where its warmth and vigor was manifest in the building of school-houses, churches, and the general onward march of that section in power and position? Did New-England desire to have the capital under her fingers forever? Upon the Father of Waters it would be central to every portion of the country, and perhaps the future center of a hundred States and millions of people.

Mr. CARPENTER said if a proposition to locate the capital anew was made to Representatives of Iowa, Missouri, Indiana and other Western States, it would take them twenty-five years to agree upon a site. He thought Milwaukee the only place entitled to it, but could not get any one in the Senate but his colleague to agree with him. [Laughter.]

Mr. MORTON thought it was understood by everybody that, if removed, the capital should go to Indianapolis. [Laughter.]

After remarks by Messrs. STOCKTON, TIPTON and STEWART in favor of the appropriation, and Mr. ROSS against it, the appropriation was carried—yeas 42, nays 10.

The nays were by Messrs. Davis, Casserly, Hamilton of Texas, Howard, Howell, Harris, McCreery, Pratt, Ross and Williams—10.

Polar Explorations.

The next amendment was the appropriation of $100,000 in aid of an expedition to the North Pole. Messrs. SUMNER, YATES and SAWYER advocated it as a national contribution in the interest of science.

Mr. SAULSBURY offered an amendment that the expedition will be with a view to discovering said Pole, measuring its length and circumference, and, if practicable, bringing it to this country.

Mr. DRAKE suggested to add the words "to be used as a liberty-pole." Other humorous remarks were made, Mr. SAWYER inquiring whether the object of the expedition was to find the place where the parallel of latitude met.

Mr. COLE explained the great value and importance of the project to fishing interests.

The amendment was finally carried—yeas 28, nays 25.

Judicial and other Salaries.

Mr. STEWART from a majority of the Judiciary Committee reported an amendment increasing the salaries of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States to $12,000; Associate Judges, to $10,000; Circuit Judges, to $8,500; Judges of the Court of Claims and District of Columbia Judges, $5,000.

On motion of Mr. SHERMAN the salaries of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States was made $10,000, and Associate Judges $8,000.

Mr. BAYARD moved to increase the salaries of Circuit Judges to $7,500. Agreed to—yeas 25, nays 21.

An amendment was also adopted dating the increase of salaries from July 1, 1870.

The amendment as amended was then adopted—yeas 31, nays 16.

Other Amendments.

Amendments were also made inserting an appropriation for the Branch Mint at Charlotte, N. C., and increasing the salary of the Assistant Treasurer at New-Orleans.

Mr. MORRILL, of Maine, moved to raise the salary of the United States Treasurer from $6,500 to $8,000.

The amendment was rejected, when the bill passed.

The Senate then took a recess until 7½ o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

The evening session was devoted to the District of Columbia business. Among other local bills passed was one to establish a Police Court for the District. The bill to provide a government for the District was considered.

It provides for a Governor and Secretary, with a Legislative Assembly composed of a Council and House of Representatives, and defines the powers of each.

An amendment imposing penalties for illegal voting in the District was adopted, and the bill passed.

Mr. PATTERSON, from the Committee on the District of Columbia, reported a bill, amendatory of existing laws, to prevent any officer or employe of the Corporation of Washington City from serving either as a judge or commissioner of election. Pending its consideration the Senate went into Executive Session for three minutes, and at 10¼ o'clock adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. CULLOM, from the Committee on Territories, reported a bill annulling all laws of the Territory of Idaho taxing persons of the Chinese or Mongolian race, and a law creating the office of District-Attorney for each county; also, prohibiting the Territorial Legislature from paying extra salaries to Federal officers in the Territory, or to members or employes of the Legislature. Passed.

SOUTH CAROLINA CONTESTED ELECTION CASE.

Mr. CESSNA from the Committee of Elections, made a report in the South Carolina contested election case of WALLACE against SIMPSON, declaring that A. S. WALLACE was duly elected and entitled to the seat. He moved the previous question, which was seconded, and the resolution was adopted.

When the Democratic members realised what had been done, Messrs. RANDALL and BROOKS, of New-York, remonstrated and protested against it, and a motion to reconsider was made, when there was a brief discussion. Mr. RANDALL admitted that Mr. SIMPSON could not take the oath, he having been an officer in the Confederate army, but condemned the Reconstruction Committee for not removing his disabilities, for which he had petitioned, and which he deserved, because he had honestly and fairly aided in reconstruction measures.

Mr. BROOKS, of New-York, denounced the operation as a fraud, as bad as any election fraud ever charged upon parties in New-York. It was an attempt to defraud the minority of the House, by forcing on the body another member, elected by nobody, having no constituents, and representing nothing whatever.

Mr. DAWES repudiated the principle embodied in the report, that the ineligibility of the person who received the greatest number of votes gave the seat to the person having the next highest number.

After further discussion by Messrs. CESSNA, PAINE and BURR, the Speaker called on Mr. WALLACE to come forward and take the oath, which he did.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Reports from the Committee on Foreign Affairs were made as follows:

By Mr. SWANN—Adversely on the bill giving the assent of Congress to Lieut.-Commander FREDERICK PIERSON, United States Navy, to receive from the Queen of Great Britain the nomination of Companion of the Military Division of the Order of the Bath. Laid on the table.

By Mr. SWANN—To pay to Mrs. MORSE, the widow of ISAAC E. MORSE, his salary as United States Special Commissioner to New-Grenada at the rate of $7,500 per annum from the 6th of November, 1856, to the 1st of June, 1857, and $15 per day during the same time for traveling expenses. Passed.

By Mr. SWANN—Referring to the President the petitions of WILLIAM J. NAGLE and JOHN WARREN, citizens of the United States, and now prisoners in Great Britain, with a request that such action may be taken by him in accordance with international law and with rights of American citizenship as the facts shall justify. Agreed to.

By Mr. WILKINSON—Making allowance to the widow of the late United States Consul in China, JAMES S. KIERNAN, for time occupied in traveling to his post. Passed.

By Mr. MYERS—Making allowance for traveling expenses to JOHN W. MASSEY, late Consul at Paseo Del Norte. Passed.

PENSIONS.

A large number of reports from the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions and the War of 1812 were made and disposed of. In the discussion of one of them, Mr. WILLARD, Chairman of the Committee, asked and obtained leave to report to-morrow a public bill in reference to pensions to survivors of the war of 1812.

A NEW RULE.

Mr. BANKS, from the Committee on Rules, reported a new rule forbidding change of a vote after the announcement of the result, and also forbidding the record of a member's vote who was not present when the vote was taken. Adopted.

THE AMENDMENT BILL.

The House, at 1¼ P. M., resumed the consideration of the Conference Committee's report on the bill to enforce the rights of citizens of the United States to vote in the several States of the Union.

Mr. BINGHAM, Chairman of the Committee of Conference, reviewed the provisions of the original bill and of the Senate amendment as compared with the report of the Conference Committee, explaining in what the difference consisted.

Mr. KERR, a minority member of the Conference Committee, explained why he could not concur in the report.

A long discussion followed.

Mr. BINGHAM closed the debate by replying to the arguments made against the bill. He denied that it gave any encouragement to informers, and declared that in no utterance of CURRAN was so weak enough or foolish enough to suppose that his burning and immortal words in denunciation of informers could apply to the case of a citizen who appealed to the tribunal of justice for the vindication of a right or the redress of a wrong. He asked when and where Liberty found a shelter or a refuge anywhere on this planet save under the shelter and care of law, enforced by the Courts.

Mr. ELDRIDGE—Never under an Empire.

Mr. BINGHAM—The word "Empire" has no terrors for me when applied to that empire whose scepter is knowledge, and whose power is the ballot in the hands of freemen.

Mr. ELDRIDGE—Under this bill it is the empire of despotism, and you know it, and that is the reason you advocate it.

Mr. BINGHAM declined to yield to interruptions, and said that the sum total of complaints made against the bill was that the equal rights of the people were to be enforced for the first time in the history of the Republic by the common statute laws of the common people of all the States. It was to be made a crime hereafter for any one by violence, intimidation or wealth to interfere with the right which was formidable to tyrants alone—the right of an unrestrained ballot in the hands of freemen. That was all that there was in this bill.

Mr. ELDRIDGE—Under the sword.

Mr. BINGHAM—Under the sword? The gentleman prates again. There is no such thing in the bill. There is not a word of the sort in it. Let the people speak unawed. Let them exercise their suffrage, because, after all, that is the power under which the Constitution was ordered, by which it has been retained, through which Congress is convened, by which our armies are organized and our tribunals of justice established. We propose to enforce that provision, and with the help of the American people we will do it.

The vote was then taken, and the report of the Conference Committee was agreed to—yeas 133, nays 58,—a strict party vote.

REDUCTION OF TAXATION.

The House then proceeded with the consideration of the bill to reduce internal taxes. After some preliminary remarks by Mr. SCHENCK, in apology for its length, (eighty-six printed pages,) which, he said, was inevitable, as it embraced all legislation on the subject revised and presented in a modified connection and condensed form, the Clerk proceeded to read the first section, but as it covered thirty pages of the bill, the reading had only just concluded when the hour of 5 o'clock arrived, and the House thereupon adjourned.

The Wilkes-Busby Libel Suit.

The following is the decision in full rendered by Justice SHANDLEY in the proceedings in libel by SAUNDERS D. BRUCE and HAMILTON W. BUSBY, editors of the Turf, Field and Farm, against GEORGE WILKES, of the Spirit of the Times:

In the case in which HAMILTON W. BUSBY is the complainant the variance between the matter complained of and the complaint itself is, beyond all question, fatal, and the English authorities and the decisions of our own Courts all unite in declaring, for prudential and sound legal reasons, that in libel, as in forgery, the slightest variance is fatal, and literal exactness is therefore necessary. With regard to the complaint preferred by SAUNDERS D. BRUCE against Mr. WILKES for an alleged libel in charging him (BRUCE) with perjury in a certain affidavit made before the Court of General Sessions by BRUCE, in which the latter sought to postpone the trial on an indictment for libel preferred against him by Mr. WILKES, there appears to be justification established, and the facts in these cases and the law applicable to them, as well as the interests of justice, demand the dismissal of these complaints.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

Three legal sales, made by the order of the Supreme Court under direction of referees appointed for that purpose, were the only transactions at the Exchange yesterday. The attendance was limited and no particular interest was manifested in the proceedings. The following property was disposed of:

ROBERTS & McGUIRE sold a three-story frame house, 26x40, together with a lot 26x100.5, located on the south side of Fifty-second-street, 325 feet west of Eleventh-avenue, for $5,800; also, a farm at Huntington, L. I., consisting of 332 acres of land, on which was a house 40 feet front and a barn, for $8,850. The latter property was sold under a foreclosure, at the suit of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, the owner of the mortgage; 180 acres were represented to be meadow. The price was a low one and the premises were knocked down to Supervisor WALTER ROCHE.

E. F. RAYMOND disposed of house and lot, 25x100, on the west side of Columbia-street, 125 feet north of Delancey-street, for $6,000. The mortgage foreclosed was for $7,500, and the premises were sold subject to one year's lease from the 1st inst. at a rental of $600 per annum.

The above were all the sales made, and the transactions virtually completed the business of the week. Next week the market promises to be very lively, as the property already advertised is both valuable and well located, and the sales numerous. The following is an outline of the business to be transacted, a more extended reference to which will be made in Monday's issue. Tuesday, at the Exchange, property at Fordham, Westchester County, will be sold by A. J. BLEECKER, SON & CO., and at New-Brighton, S. I., by E. H. LUDLOW & Co. The same day, on the ground, JOHNSON & MILLER'S Linden Park sale takes place at Staten Island. Wednesday, at the Exchange, the Dyckman sale comes off, under the direction of V. K. STEVENSON, SON & Co. A. J. BLEECKER, SON & Co. also sell improved New-York property and lots in Brooklyn. On Thursday, at the Exchange, ROBERTS & McGUIRE sell a large number of improved and unimproved City lots, and, on the ground, A. D. MELLICK, Jr., & BRO. have a sale at Bloomfield, N. J. Saturday, the latter firm have also a sale on the ground of valuable property located at Passaic Village, N. J. This attractive programme cannot fail to draw together a large number of buyers, and much interest is already manifested in the forthcoming results.

FINANCIAL.

INDIANAPOLIS, BLOOMINGTON AND WESTERN RAILWAY

SEVEN PER CENT. GOLD LOAN.

The bonds are in denominations of $1,000 each, secured by a first mortgage on 206 miles of road, from Indianapolis, the largest city and most important railroad center in the State of Indiana, to the City of Pekin, in Illinois.

ONE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY MILES of the line are now IN FULL OPERATION, equipped with new first-class rolling stock, and already EARNING MUCH MORE THAN THE INTEREST ON THE WHOLE ISSUE OF BONDS. The balance, thirty-five miles, is being rapidly constructed, is nearly all graded, and UNDER CONTRACT TO BE FINISHED IN JUNE NEXT.

There are thirty-six depots on the line, LOCATED IN CITIES AND TOWNS THAT CONTAIN, IN THE AGGREGATE, A POPULATION OF ONE HUNDRED AND NINETY THOUSAND, averaging over 920 to each square mile, within a radius of half a mile of the track; and WITHIN TWENTY MILES OF THE TRACK THERE IS A POPULATION OF ABOUT SIX HUNDRED THOUSAND.

It passes through the counties of Marion, Hendricks, Montgomery, Fountain, Warren and Vermillion, in the State of Indiana, and Vermillion, Champaign, De Witt, Piatt, McLean and Tazewell Counties, in Illinois, on the line of the old emigrant State road, which was laid out in the best portion of those States before the time of railroads, was then the main line of Western travel, and consequently became more thickly settled than other sections of the West, as the numerous cities, large villages, and products of these counties demonstrate.

Besides the large agricultural productions of this section the manufacturing interest is very extensive in the large towns, and is rapidly increasing.

The coal-mines at Danville on this line are extensively and profitably worked, and FURNISH BUSINESS FOR OVER THREE HUNDRED COAL CARS on this line at present, and MORE THAN TWICE THAT NUMBER WILL BE REQUIRED to carry coal on completion of the remaining link.

From the present earnings on 170 miles it is safe to assume that the LOCAL BUSINESS ALONE WILL BE AMPLE NOT ONLY TO PAY THE BONDED DEBT, BUT LARGE DIVIDENDS ON THE STOCK.

In addition to the population and wealth of the country, and all that is necessary to support a first-class road and make it a profitable investment through local traffic, it forms a grand central trunk line FOR THROUGH BUSINESS, NOT SURPASSED BY ANY ROAD OF EQUAL LENGTH IN THE WEST.

At Indianapolis it connects by main lines with the cities of Columbus, Cleveland, Pittsburg, Cincinnati—and with the Pennsylvania Central, Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio, and other important railroad lines. At Pekin, the western terminus, connections are made with Peoria, Quincy, Keokuk, Burlington and Omaha. At Bloomington with the Illinois Central Road, which runs north-west 600 miles to Fort Dodge, Iowa. A very large business will be done with this line. At Danville it connects by rail with Toledo on Lake Erie. A map will show all these to be very important connections in making through lines over this route.

THE LOAN IS PLACED BEYOND ANY CONTINGENCY BY THE PRESENT EARNINGS FROM LOCAL TRAFFIC ON ONE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY MILES, which must necessarily be doubled when the trains run through.

THE BONDS ARE CONVERTIBLE at the option of the holder into stock at par at any time, which adds greatly to their value. They may be registered at the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, if desired.

Coupons payable April and October, free of tax.

Total issue $5,000,000—$2,000,000 of which are placed in trust with the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company to redeem and cancel $2,000,000 bonds issued to the Danville, Urbana, Bloomington and Pekin Railroad, now merged into this road, making the loan only $3,000,000, OVER HALF OF WHICH HAS BEEN SOLD IN EUROPE AND THIS MARKET. The balance we offer at 92½ and ACCRUED INTEREST. At this low price the Bonds, being so amply secured, will be quickly marketed.

We have been thoroughly posted in regard to the road from the start, have closely inspected it from time to time during construction, and being familiar with the wealth and resources of the country, the responsibility and integrity of the officers and directors of the Company, and the present earnings of the road, it is with pleasure that WE RECOMMEND THE BONDS AS ONE OF THE CHEAPEST AND SAFEST INVESTMENTS IN THE MARKET, sure of a high standard among the best railroad securities in the country.

All marketable securities received in exchange at market rates. Bonds delivered to all points FREE OF EXPRESS CHARGES.

WEST POINT.

Arrival of the First Colored Cadet—Excitement in the Military Academy—Improvements—A Practical Joke—Prospects of the Season.

Special Correspondence of the New-York Times.

WEST POINT, Friday, May 27, 1870.

Considerable excitement was caused here on Tuesday by the arrival of the colored appointee for the Mississippi cadetship. His name is MICHAEL HOWARD, and his pure African descent is unmistakably manifested in his clear black complexion, largely white eyes and closely-crimped hair. His personal appearance is by no means unprepossessing. In height he is about five feet four inches; his figure is well-rounded, and his carriage not at all ungraceful. His countenance has a pleasant, shrewd and resolute expression. It is quite evident that he is aware of the peculiar position in which he is placed, and that although sensitive, he is not embarrassed nor discouraged. His appearance as he wandered about the Plains, carrying in his hand an immense carpet-bag, and inquiring the direction to the Commandant's office, was somewhat amusing. He was politely informed that he was in advance of the appointed time, and that new cadets could not be examined until after the 25th. He then endeavored to procure board, but every where he applied was informed that there were no accommodations left, whereupon he proceeded to the village of Highland Falls, two miles below, and applied at Cozzens' Hotel. Dinner and supper were furnished him there, but all the rooms were "engaged;" so he had recourse to a colored family who live near by, and who are now entertaining him. He appears very quiet, but apparently determined to "push things" resolutely. His advent is the sensation of the season. The cadets, especially, are not a little exercised in mind over the matter, and it is a theme of not a little contentious argument. Even the officers, while discarding all political bias in the matter, and after having fought for the colored race both at the polls and on the battle-field, while feeling kindly toward him, speak very doubtfully on the expediency of this venture. They regard it as a more decided advance of the colored man into social circles than even the elevation of Senator REVELS to Congressional rank. The position of the new cadet, if accepted and retained, must grow more and more embarrassing from his isolation and the peculiar novelty of his social connections. No doubt but this recruit will have a thorough initiatory "devilment" from the cadets to sustain which will test his fortitude. Otherwise he will be treated, by both officers and cadets, with courtesy and kindness, their sense of honor being too high to permit any other course. Thursday night quite a disturbance occurred. The fourth (lowest) class of cadets endeavored to celebrate their emancipation from their year of probationship known as the "plebe" year. As the new cadet year begins, they are no longer "plebes." Determined to mark the event with a memorable sensation, they stole out quietly from their quarters late at night, and with the greatest secrecy took the large brass cannon, which stands in position on the parade ground, dragged it to the center of the barrack yard, charged it with a heavy load and prepared for the result. At 1:50 o'clock, A. M., they fired it. A tremendous explosion followed. The concussion shook every building in the vicinity, and threw the entire community into the greatest commotion. Startled from their slumbers at that unusual hour, the people ran out in a state of great apprehension. The first impression was that the magazine had blown up. This idea, however, was speedily dispelled by the shouts and yells of the jubilant offenders, which made night hideous with their echoes. But those involved in this plot paid dearly for their fun. They were at once detected, and were punished by being marched around the barrack-yard at the "double-quick," which was kept up incessantly until the firing of the sunrise gun at 5 o'clock in the morning—a stretch of three hours. In addition, they are ordered to be confined to the limits of the barrack-yard until they go into camp, at about the middle of June.

Building operations have been resumed on the new fire-proof edifice for the Public Records, and Superintendent's office. The walls are already advanced some six feet above the ground. The dimensions are about fifty feet square and the material is gneiss, with blue stone trimmings of very neat design by Architect HARNEDY, of Cold Spring. It is too profusely elaborate to harmonize with the adjacent plain and substantial buildings. It will be the most prominent feature that will catch the eye of visitors as they ascend from the ferry. There has been $15,000 already expended since the 1st of July, the recent appropriation of $25,000 will be available, yet some $20,000 more will be required to finish it.

The West Point Cemetery, in which Gen. BUFORD and many other distinguished soldiers rest, is being enlarged to very nearly double its former size by the removal of its iron fence westward.

The number of cadet appointments this year is ninety-one.

The military road between here and Cornwall, as authorized by Congress, is being constructed with great dispatch. It has already been advanced around one of the boldest overhanging river headlands and extended to "Washington's Valley," at the base of "Kro' Nest." It bids fair to become a valuable addition to the many magnificent drives about this post. Great activity prevails in making preparations for the June examinations. They promise to be unusually interesting. Rooms have been prepared for occupation by the President. Summer visitors are arriving in increased numbers every day. Cozzens' is rapidly filling up. Many of the old habitués have shown their familiar faces, and the season promises to be very gay. There have been many improvements about the grounds and in the adjoining village. The verdure of the trees, cliffs and hillsides was never more luxuriant. The inauguration ball takes place on the 22d of June.

The New Assistant Superintendent of the Board of Education—Reception in his Honor by his Old Pupils and Their Teachers.

The retirement of Mr. JOHN H. FANNING from the position of Principal of the Male Department of Grammar School No. 12, and his appointment to the Assistant Superintendentship of the Board of Education, was made the occasion, yesterday, for a genuine and unrestrained expression of affection and good-will toward him by the pupils and teachers over whom he has long and efficiently presided. For twenty-six years he has been Principal in this school. The pupils and teachers prepared a reception in his honor, yesterday, at the school-room. Mr. Thos. SHIELDS presided, and there were several hundred present. The exercises comprised recitations, vocal and instrumental music, &c., and their general execution reflected highly, not alone on the pupils, but on their excellent trainers. On the part of the school teachers, Commissioner WOOD presented Mr. FANNING with a beautifully engrossed set of resolutions, expressive of their gratitude for his uniform kindness toward them, their respect for his abilities, their extreme regret at their separation, and their hearty wishes for his success in his new sphere. Commissioner WOOD also paid a high compliment to his proficiency as a principal, as well as his worth as an individual, and cordially joined in the sentiments set forth in the address. Mr. FANNING, in an appropriate address, made his acknowledgments, and assured them that in his new position he would strive as earnestly to gain the esteem of his colaborers as he had done in their midst. On the part of the school-boys Master JOHN A. CRONIN in an address, remarkable alike for its beauty of diction and grace of delivery, recounted the many kindnesses, personal and otherwise, they had received at his hands; and while expressing the utmost regret at his departure from among them, hailed it as a recognition of his varied talents and accomplishments. A beautiful basket of flowers accompanied the address. Mr. FANNING happily responded. Commissioner SMITH, Inspector MCLEAN and others also spoke. After a farewell song, joined in by the boys and girls of the school, and three cheers for Mr. FANNING, the proceedings terminated.

Mr. J. J. DELANEY, Mr. FANNING's successor, assumes his position on the 1st of June.

Prosecuting Counterfeiters in a Sharp Manner.

In the cases of WALLACE CROSBY and SAMUEL BROWN, indicted for dealing in counterfeit money, Assistant District-Attorney PURDY made a motion for the trial of the prisoners yesterday, in the United States Circuit Court, before Judge BENEDICT. BROWN, who is aged about seventy years, was arrested a short time ago in Grand-street by a member of Col. WHITLEY's force, with a hollow cane in his possession, in which between $200 and $300 in bad bills was concealed. CROSBY was arrested on the Bowery while in the act of passing a spurious Treasury note. Both men are well-known offenders. On being arraigned yesterday they both withdrew their pleas of not guilty previously made and entered pleas of guilty. They were then remanded until Monday for sentence. Mr. PARRIS, counsel for ETHELRED WOODWARD, convicted of counterfeiting, moved for a new trial in the case, on the ground that he had discovered additional evidence in the defense since the prisoner's conviction. He was instructed to embody the new evidence in an affidavit and to present the latter to the Court on Monday, at which time Judge BENEDICT promised to decide on the motion.

The Department of Mechanical Drawing attracted especial attention, owing to the fine specimens of workmanship on exhibition. To-night six young men will graduate, and an address to them is to be delivered by Gov. HOFFMAN. Wires from all parts of the country have been connected with the platform, and young ladies will receive and transmit messages. Mr. ORTON will also address the class in telegraphy. POTE, who was arrested Thursday night and locked up in the Fifth Precinct Station-house for intoxication, it subsequently appeared had been robbed while on his debauch of a gold watch valued at $80. Two desperadoes named RUSSELL and CHANDLER, were arrested at an early hour yesterday morning while fighting in the street, and taken to the Twenty-ninth Precinct Station-house, where the Sergeant on duty ordered them locked up. LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

NEW-YORK.

Another effort was made yesterday to obtain the release of RICHARD B. CALDWELL, the celebrated drawback conspirator, from Ludlow-street Jail. ROBERT BOYD appeared before Commissioner OSBORN for the purpose of becoming bondsman for the accused in the sum of $25,000. He said he was possessed of real estate in this City worth $200,000, free from incumbrance. It was ascertained, however, that he was surety on several large bail bonds in the United States District Court, one of which was for the appearance of WM. H. WHIMSTER, one of CALDWELL'S and BLATCHFORD'S confederates. His bond was not accepted.
